U.S. REGISTRARS SWAMPED

...Federal Suits Attack 3 States' Poll Taxes

REGISTERED . . . Mrs. Annie Williams proud.

Selma, Ala (AP)—Federal examiners registered 1,144 Negroes as voters in nine Southern counties and parishes Tuesday under the new 1965 voting rights law. The figure was provided by a civil service spokesman in Washington.

The spokesman said the total represented a 65% increase over the 1,764 Negroes previously on registration rolls in the nine counties in Alabama, Louisiana (parishes) and Mississippi.

In addition, Negroes continued to stream into state registrars offices in Americus, Ga., as they have since the federal law was signed. In three days, 1,004 Negroes have registered, doubling Sumter County's Negro voting population.

No federal examiner has been assigned to the southwest Georgia city, scene of recent racial troubles which resulted in one death.

At least two federal examiners were on hand in each of the nine counties affected by the law.

At the same time the Justice Department moved to erase poll taxes in three states.

Both actions were to make it easier for Negroes to vote.

Hundreds of Negroes turned out to register in Selma, the Alabama town which became an early symbol of the voting rights struggle. Others packed into the small post office at Greensboro, center of the most recent civil rights struggle in Alabama.

At Canton Miss., so many Negroes turned up at the registrars' headquarters that some were asked to come back later. They were assured that voting rolls would still be open.

The voting examiners—some of them Negroes—are part of a special Justice Department team sent to nine counties in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana under the new law signed Friday by President Johnson.

Meanwhile Tuesday, the Justice Department sued to abolish the poll tax in Texas, Virginia and Alabama.

Congress directed in the voting rights act that the attorney general test the constitutionality of poll taxes in court suits. The 24th Amendment to the Constitution forbids any requirement for payment of a poll tax in order to vote in federal elections, but the amendment does not extend to state elections.

50 Waiting At Selma

Fifty Negroes were waiting to apply at Selma, when the federal building opened. The building is across the street from the Dallas County courthouse and the office of Sheriff James Clark who arrested more than 3,000 civil rights demonstrators earlier this year.

One of the Negro applicants, Anita Strong, said she had tried four times to register but had failed the literacy test. She has a fourth grade education.

Tried Six Times

A Negro minister from nearby Orville, the Rev. Lorenzo Harrison, said he has tried six times to register. He has had two years of college.

Col. Joseph R. Bibb, a member of the Dallas County board of registrars, had this comment:

"It is good in this tragic era to find one's pride in Alabama vindicated. For is it not true that in New York state, one must be tutored through eight years of schooling before he becomes eligible to vote, while in Alabama our citizens are so bright that no schooling whatever is necessary?"

Bibb referred to recent criticis of the voting bill, which wipes out literacy tests in the South.

Legislature Approves Fifteen Interim Studies

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday, without dissent, approved resolutions recommending 15 interim legislative studies on subjects ranging from intangible property taxes and public power to city annexation laws.

Approval of the 15 studies, all recommended by the Legislative Council's executive board, brings to 20 the number of interim studies approved thus far.

Remaining for legislative consideration are two additional proposed studies recommended by the executive board.

4 Not Recommended

Lawmakers must also act on four proposals which were not recommended for approval.

Studies endorsed Tuesday:

—a continuing study of public power.

—annexation of additional area by cities and villages.

—intangible property tax laws with broad authority to probe other areas of taxation.

—the problems of providing educational and training programs for mentally retarded and physically handicapped children and exceptional children

—a comprehensive water survey, including ground water recharge, conservation, irrigation, and competition and conflicts between water users.

—organizational structure and responsibilities of all state governmental agencies.

—taxation of public power districts.

Revenue Funds

—all revenue funds, and the effects of earmarking on fiscal control.

—structure of Nebraska counties and possibilities of consolidation of offices.

—laws affecting formation of sanitary improvement districts.

—oil and gas drilling ventures.

Cash Funds

—cash funds, their uses, limitations and relative necessity.

—legislative service agencies.

—dump yards, auto junk yards and salvage yards located along streets and highways.

—assessment of agricultural land actively used for that purpose which is situated near urban areas.

Two Pending

The two pending recommendations include studies of procedures for commitment and care of mentally ill persons, and testing of infants for phenylketonuria oligaphrenia (PKU) and subsequent treatment.

Not recommended are proposals to study the program of aid to dependent children, legislative processes, taxation of public utilities and county office consolidation. The latter three proposals are contained in previously approved resolutions, the executive board noted.

Earlier approved studies include a comprehensive survey of street and road needs, refinancing of public power districts, higher education, motor vehicle regulations, and fiscal laws of second class cities and villages.

Government, Red Battalions Regroup For Duc Co Fight

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Battle-torn Viet Cong and government troops reformed early Wednesday for fresh onslaughts in the battle of Duc Co, rapidly becoming the war's bloodiest single engagement of the summer.

U.S. military spokesmen here said they had no reports of further contacts Tuesday night between government forces moving overland to the relief of the camp and the strong Viet Cong units dug in along the way. The night also was reported quiet at the sandbagged camp, where a small band of valiant American advisers and government troops have been besieged for more than two months.

However, major forces still were in the area and there was no indication that the fight for Duc Co and the surrounding area was over.

Scattered Action

Other scattered action was reported Tuesday night in areas of the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, in Chuong Thien province and farther south in an Xuyen province on the tip of the Camau Peninsula. Casualties among government forces were termed light.

Earlier, U.S. planes pressed attacks both north and south of the border. A military spokesman said a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down in a raid on a bridge at Vin Tuy, 90 miles northwest of Hanoi, but the pilot was rescued.

Other operations included a two-hour firing mission by the U.S. destroyer Orleck against suspected Viet Cong concentrations on and near the coast of Thanh Hoa province, 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Spotters said the results were excellent.

Vietnamese and American defenders of a besieged Special Forces camp at Duc Co and a large government force attempting to lift the siege have killed 219 Viet Cong since Monday, the spokesman announced.

The spokesman said government casualties, including American dead and wounded, so far are moderate, but added: "I describe them as moderate only because of the large number of troops involved."

A newsman at the scene, in the central highlands 220 miles northeast of Saigon, said the bodies of 60 soldiers killed in the Viet Cong ambush of a two-mile-long government relief convoy Monday still lay along route 19 east of Duc Co.

Smoke still rose from some disabled vehicles of the convoy, attacked on the march down route 19 from Pleiku, the 2nd Corps area headquarters, 30 miles northeast of Duc Co. The Viet Cong knocked out two tanks, one armored personnel carrier, two trucks and a 105mm howitzer.

A survey from the air showed Viet Cong flags were flying from every village around Duc Co, in the jungles of a plateau five miles from the Cambodian frontier.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew more than 200 combat sorties against the Viet Cong in a 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. Reports from forward air controllers indicated more than 200 buildings were destroyed.

54 Cars Derail On U.P.

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Alexandria—Scores of Union Pacific men worked through the night Tuesday in efforts to unsnarl a 54-car freight smashup on the Topeka-Grand Island line.

The afternoon derailment occurred just south of the Alexandria State Recreation Grounds at approximately four miles east of that Thayer County town.

Swampy ground was adding to the problem of workers trying to construct a 1,200-foot shoo-fly to bypass the wreckage.

No Word

Omaha rail officials were among numerous workers at the site, but so far have given no word as to damage or cause of the mishap. It was obvious, however, that the loss would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Firemen from Alexandria and the Fairbury Rural Department were keeping a wary eye on two cars of explosives, according to a U.P. spokesman. Much of the other cargo was lumber and sugar.

A crew from Hastings was believed operating the eastbound freight when the accident occurred, about 1 p.m. All apparently escaped injury, although approximately half the 110-car freight was derailed.

Crews Brought In

Two wreckers were brought from Grand Island and Marysville, Kan. Other crews were brought in from as far as Kansas City.

One official said it appeared the damage would even exceed that of a similar U.P. derailment last fall near Endicott. Several dozen automobiles being transported were damaged in that incident.

Sinatra Crewman Dies To Save Fellow

. . . LINCOLN, FLORIDA GIRLS SWIM TO SAFETY; DINGHY SINKS

From Press Reports

Vineyard Haven, Mass. — The 23-year-old third mate aboard Frank Sinatra's chartered luxury yacht sacrificed his life early Tuesday to save a non-swimming fellow crewmen from drowning after their 8-foot dinghy sank. Two girls swam to safety.

A few hours later, Sinatra was granted permission to leave this port on Martha's Vineyard and sail back to Newport, R.I. He did.

The two girls were Miss Cheryl Navin, 21, of Lincoln, Neb., a senior at the University of Nebraska, and Miss Margaret Whittemore, also 21, of Vineyard Haven and Fort Lauderdale, Fla. They are employed for the summer as waitresses in a bowling alley-coffee shop at Vineyard Haven.

The tragedy cast gloom over the month-long romantic cruise Sinatra, 49, has been taking along the New England coastline with his 19-year-old sweetheart, TV starlet Mia Farrow. She portrays Allison MacKenzie in the serial "Peyton Place."

Secluded

Sinatra and Mia were secluded aboard the 168-foot-long Southern Breeze. Occasionally one of them could be seen looking out at the planes and boats criss-crossing nearby in search of Robert S. Goldfarb, the third mate.

Goldfarb, of the Bronx, New York City, was presumed drowned. His parents live in New Rochelle, N.Y.

Officials said Goldfarb and James O. Grimes of Ireland, a steward aboard the yacht, lingered in the bowling alley-coffee shop.

Played Pool, Bowled

Albert Brickman, operator of the establishment, said the two crewmen were in the shop talking with the two girls until about 2 a.m. He said the quartet played pool and bowled until the crewmen decided it was time to return to the yacht.

CHERYL NAVIN

But, Brickman said, the launch that was to take them back from Martha's Vineyard Island had already left the dock and the girls volunteered to row them back in a dinghy.

Authorities speculated that the weight of the four was too much for the small craft. Some 400 yards from shore the one-foot-high waves swamped the boat. All four were tossed into the fog-shrouded ocean.

"We were out about 15 minutes," Miss Navin said. "There were heavy waves and a strong wind and water began coming in over the stern. Then the boat sank, right under us."

The Lincoln girl said she and Miss Whittemore sat in the stern thwart.

"Bob was rowing and Jim was sitting in the bow. It swamped and sank and we all floated out."

"The boat flipped over and Jim yelled 'I can't swim.' Bob gave him the life preserver—the only one."

Goldfarb Exhausted

She said Goldfarb became exhausted trying to keep the steward close to the dinghy.

Miss Whittemore and Miss Navin were unable to swim to shore against the wind and outgoing tide.

After about an hour, Miss Whittemore said, the girls, both excellent swimmers, found themselves about 100 yards from the yacht, anchored several hundred yards from shore outside a breakwater.

"We screamed for help, and a launch was sent out to pick us up. And they went to the dinghy and got Jim."

Goldfarb could not be found.

'THANK GOD SHE'S SAFE,' CHERYL'S MOTHER SAYS

Cheryl Navin, who with a companion, Margaret Whittemore, swam to safety after the dinghy they were rowing to Frank Sinatra's yacht sank, called home twice Tuesday to reassure her parents she was all right.

"Thank God she's safe," said her mother, Mrs. Philip Navin, of 5141 Randolph. "She was OK shock-wise, but undoubtedly upset."

One yacht crewman, Robert Goldfarb, was missing and presumed drowned. The other crewman, James O. Grimes, was rescued.

Miss Navin, 21, is a senior at the University of Nebraska. NU sources said she is majoring in English and history.

She was active at Pius X High School where she was yearbook editor, a member of the debating team and a participant in school plays. She won a scholarship to NU.

Her mother said Miss Navin holds a Red Cross swimming first aid certificate. The family has lived in Lincoln 12 years. Her father is sales manager at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Mrs. Navin said she knew her daughter was working in a coffee shop and that she said she didn't want to come home yet. She said Cheryl planned to go to New York before classes resume.

Miss Navin and three Delta Gamma sorority sisters, Barbara Beckman of 2640 Antelope Circle, Nelda Keller of Broken Bow and Virginia Bollman of South Sioux City were spending the summer working back East. Mrs. Navin said they took off for Cape Cod right after final examinations.

Bill Proposing Vote On Education Aid Survives

A bill proposing a vote of the people on the question of state aid to education financed with broadened tax base revenue barely survived another kill motion in the Legislature Tuesday.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who had attempted to kill the measure Monday and failed on a 16-27 vote, mounted another effort which was barely batted down on an 18-20 count.

The bill, LB341, then cleared select file on a voice vote. It will need 30 votes to be approved on final reading.

Amendments

After a series of amendments were adopted Tuesday, LB341 now proposes a constitutional amendment providing that the state leave the property tax field except to finance capital construction projects once a sales or income tax becomes effective.

A portion of the broadened tax base revenue must be returned to the common schools.

Senators struck from the measure proposed state assistance to all public educational institutions, including higher education, totaling at least 50% of all broadened tax base revenue.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly first won 31-2 approval to reduce the minimum percentage to 25%, and then Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth gained 25-8 endorsement of an amendment knocking out any specific percentage and requiring only "a portion" of the revenue for school aid.

Ruhnke said it would be "a mistake" to write any percentage into the constitution and thus tie the hands of future legislatures.

In its present form, LB341 would modify the Duis Amendment to the state constitution which now provides that the state must abandon the property tax field once a sales or income tax becomes effective.

It would also require the state to move into a program of aid to education once the tax base is broadened.

Car-Truck Crash Fatal To Man, 55, From Plattsmouth

Plattsmouth (AP) - The State Safety Patrol reported Tuesday night that Herbert E. Anderson, 55, of Plattsmouth was killed late in the day when his car and a semi-trailer were in collision a mile south of the Murray corner on Highways 73-75 and the junction of 34.

Bill Proposing Vote On Education Aid Survives

A bill proposing a vote of the people on the question of state aid to education financed with broadened tax base revenue barely survived another kill motion in the Legislature Tuesday.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who had attempted to kill the measure Monday and failed on a 16-27 vote, mounted another effort which was barely batted down on an 18-20 count.

The bill, LB341, then cleared select file on a voice vote. It will need 30 votes to be approved on final reading.

Amendments

After a series of amendments were adopted Tuesday, LB341 now proposes a constitutional amendment providing that the state leave the property tax field except to finance capital construction projects once a sales or income tax becomes effective.

A portion of the broadened tax base revenue must be returned to the common schools.

Senators struck from the measure proposed state assistance to all public educational institutions, including higher education, totaling at least 50% of all broadened tax base revenue.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly first won 31-2 approval to reduce the minimum percentage to 25%, and then Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth gained 25-8 endorsement of an amendment knocking out any specific percentage and requiring only "a portion" of the revenue for school aid.

Ruhnke said it would be "a mistake" to write any percentage into the constitution and thus tie the hands of future legislatures.

In its present form, LB341 would modify the Duis Amendment to the state constitution which now provides that the state must abandon the property tax field once a sales or income tax becomes effective.

It would also require the state to move into a program of aid to education once the tax base is broadened.

Probers Swarm Tube Where Fire Killed 53

Searcy, Ark. (AP) — Air Force investigators swarmed the scorched launch tube of a Titan 2 missile complex Tuesday to find the cause of an explosion and fire that killed 53 civilians in the "gun barrel" of America's mightiest ballistic missile.

The tragedy was the worst in the history of the Titan 2 system which includes 54 complexes that have been fully operational since December 1963.

"We cannot make any supposition whatsoever as to the cause of the explosion or fire," said Capt. Douglas Wood, public information officer for Little Rock Air Force Base, which commands the 18 Titan 2 silos ringing central Arkansas.

Bodies Pulled Out

Air Force personnel, working first in asbestos suits because of heat and later using contained air supplies because of smoke, pulled bodies out of the 155-foot-deep launch tube throughout the night.

The missile, fully loaded with liquid fuel and weighing 150 tons, was in the underground tube but did not burn, Wood said.

There was no danger of a nuclear explosion, he said, because the warhead had been removed while the civilian workmen updated the physical plant of the complex.

Investigators Arrive

Seventeen members of a 30-man investigation force arrived here early Tuesday. They include men who are experts in every phase of the Titan system, the Air Force said.

President Johnson ordered the investigation.

Wood said most of the victims apparently suffocated.

"The fire probably burned less than an hour," he said. "But up to 12 hours later smoke was still billowing in the silo."

The silo is covered at ground level by a 750-ton door, which moves laterally on rails. The door was closed. The increasing amount of smoke forced air out of the silo, and oxygen that remained was consumed by the fire, Wood said.

"It was nearly an airtight compartment," he said.

Cuban Admits Murders

Miami Fla. (AP) — A former Cuban lobsterman said Tuesday he turned on the captain of the ancient banana boat Seven Seas during an argument over Fidel Castro and shot him and four other shipmates to death before abandoning the vessel in a small skiff.

The crewman, Roberto Ramirez, 35, told the story several hours after the rowboat was picked up in the Gulf Stream by a German freighter about 60 miles south of Miami. Ramirez was carrying a loaded .38-caliber revolver in his belt.

Federal authorities said Ramirez told them he had been defending the Castro regime and that the Spanish captain, Rogelio Diaz, had threatened to turn him over to authorities when the ship reached Tampa where it was to undergo repairs.

"It was either me or them," authorities quoted Ramirez.

Ramirez said that after shooting the captain he walked aft where he shot the first mate and three other crewmen. He said he spared the life of the ship's cook, who is missing.

An eighth crew member, Burgwise Elwin, hid in a forward chain locker and survived. He was found alone Sunday aboard the derelict ship with three bodies.

Ramirez said he threw the body of the captain and one of the crew overboard.

The Seven Seas left Miami en route to Tampa Saturday. Capt. Diaz's last entry in the log at 10 p.m. mentioned no incidents as the old ship headed south into the Gulf Stream.

When Ramirez was picked up he was alone in the 14-foot green and white skiff. His pockets were filled with ammunition, and there was more in a baby food jar. He also had a jug of water and a bottle of prune juice.

After the gunfire ceased, Elwin said, the ship's engines went dead. The Coast Guard speculated that whoever was operating the Seven Seas did not know how to switch to auxiliary fuel tanks.

Bread Price Storm Due As Unit Clears Ag Bill

Washington (AP)—The House Rules Committee cleared the way Tuesday for House consideration of the administration's farm bill—and a certain storm over bread prices.

Even the bill's backers concede that proposed higher supports for wheat will increase the price of bread. But some Republicans and big city Democrats are charging that the increase is, in effect, a "bread tax" and that it will fall heaviest on the poor.

They are certain to center their fire on the wheat section when the omnibus bill reaches the floor, probably next week. Whether their opposition will sink the section or the bill itself—and hand President Johnson what in this session would be a rare legislative defeat — is problematical.

Complicated

The bill goes to the floor with the request of Rules Committee Republicans for a cost estimate only partly answered. And so complicated is the measure, members freely admit their knowledge of its details is minimal.

Winding up two days of hearing members of the House Agriculture Committee testify on the bill, Rules Chairman Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., asked: "How will anybody who is not a member of the committee know how to vote?"

Agriculture Chairman Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., replied in an equally joshing mood: "We'll tell you."

Cooley told the committee that bakers planned to increase the price of bread anyhow. He passed around the committee table small plastic sacks of the amount of wheat he said goes into one loaf of bread. "This is propaganda, too. But it's on the other side," he said.

2.5 Cents Of 21.6

Distributed by the National Association of Wheat Growers, the sacks carry a label saying the farmer now gets 2.5 cents of the 21.6 cents paid for a loaf of bread. In 1948, the message continues, his share was 2.7 cents of the 13.5 cents a loaf of bread cost.

"Lack of fair bargaining power has cost the farmer his fair share of the bread price," the label says. "Congress can restore it for him."

The bill would increase the support price of wheat for domestic use about 50 cents a bushel—to about $2.50.

The increase is in the rise to $1.25 of the 75-cent certificate millers now pay farmers for each bushel of domestic wheat.

Martin, Smith Press

In the two days of Rules Committee consideration, Reps. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., and Dave Martin, R-Neb., pressed the Agriculture Committee for a cost estimate of the bill's many programs.

Finally, Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., told them the three major sections—for wheat, cotton and feed grains—would cost about $3.2 billion—an $800 million reduction in what he said was the current $4 billion cost.

About $1.5 billion to $2 billion of this, he said, is spent under programs to feed hungry people in other countries and really "is a part of foreign aid."

Draft Card Mutilators Bill's Target

Washington (AP) Persons who deliberately destroy or mutilate draft cards could be imprisoned for five years and fined $10,000 under a bill passed Tuesday by the House.

The measure, aimed at proposed mass draft card burning by pacifist groups, was sent to the Senate by a roll-call vote of 393 to 1. The lone opposition vote came from Rep. Henry P. Smith, R-N.Y.

The bill was sponsored by the House Armed Services Committee, which said it was concerned about increasing incidents of public destruction or mutilation of the cards.

The penalties in the proposed new law are the same that are now provided for forging or altering draft cards.

Malaysia Moves To Solidify Ties

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—Malaysia moved Tuesday to solidify ties with neighboring Singapore, following that state's breakaway from the Malaysian federation.

The federation foreign ministry announced it has named an ambassador to Singapore "to promote good will and understanding in the relations of both countries."

Singapore reacted quickly, appointing an acting ambassador to Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian capital.

Landmark Housing Bill Law; Rent Subsidies Inaugurated

Washington (AP) — President Johnson signed a four-year, $7.5-billion omnibus housing bill Tuesday and said it represents "the single most important breakthrough in the last 40 years" in housing.

The measure includes a controversial new program of federal rent subsidies for people who cannot afford standard private housing.

Speaking at a ceremonial bill-signing in the White House rose garden, Johnson said no man or woman ever grows too old or too successful "to forget the memory of a childhood home that was without water and that was without coverings on the floor —and I have never forgotten."

The nation can and must press on in this decade to wipe out "the shame of slums and squalor and the blight of deterioration and decay," the President said, adding:

"We must make sure that every family in America lives in a home of dignity, in a neighborhood of pride, a community of opportunity and a city of promise and hope."

The measure authorizes an additional $2.9 billion for continuing the urban renewal program of slum clearance and community development.

It also authorizes an expansion of the low-rent public housing program to provide for 240,000 additional units and new methods of obtaining them. Instead of being limited to new construction, local authorities could finance 100,000 of these units by purchase or lease of existing housing.

Johnson said the bill is landmark legislation because of its new ideas.

"Foremost of these," he said, "is the program of assistance for the construction and the rehabilitation of housing for the elderly and for families of low income — the people who live in the most wretched conditions in our slums and blighted neighborhoods."

The bill provides for grants of up to $1,500 to persons whose incomes are $3,000 a year or less. The money is to be used to fix up their properties so they can continue to live in them. This is expected to help elderly people.

The rent subsidy program provides for payments which may average around $45 a month to families whose incomes are low enough to qualify them for public housing under present law.

Committee OKs Fortas, Marshall

Washington (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday gave its approval for President Johnson's old friend Abe Fortas to don the robes of a Supreme Court justice.

It also okayed the nomination of Thurgood Marshall to be the government's legal voice before the Supreme Court, the solicitor general.

Final confirmation of the two men must come by action of the full Senate, a step usually considered a formality after committee approval.

66 BUSHELS PER ACRE—

Record Breaking Corn Output Seen For State

. . . Sharp Drop Forecast In Winter Wheat Production

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Tuesday forecast a 1965 Nebraska corn crop of 247,263,000 bushels, a record average of 66 bushels to the acre and a considerable boost over the estimate one month ago.

The prediction based on conditions July 1 had been estimated at 59 bushels per acre and a total of 221,014,000 bushels.

Nebraska's corn production last year amounted to 214,000,000 bushels at an average of 52 to the acre, and the average for the years 1959-63 was 303,161,000 bushels, 53.6 per acre.

Nebraska's corn this year will come from 3,746,000 acres, compared with 4,116,000 in 1964.

In contrast, the department saw a sharp drop in the winter wheat harvest, now nearing completion.

The forecast was for 57,880,000 bushels of wheat at 20 to the acre, against 66,562,000 indicated a month ago on an average of 23 to the acre.

The 1964 production of wheat came to 73,825,000 bushels, averaging 25 from 2,953,000 acres. This year's yield was from 2,894,000 acres. The five-year average was 69,885,000 bushels.

Oats Unchanged

The oats forecast remained unchanged from a month earlier — 27,436,000 bushels, averaging 38 to the acre from 722,000 acres. A year ago Nebraska produced 22,892,000 bushels of oats, an average of 29.5 from an acreage of 776,000

From 1959-63, Nebraska averaged 33,439,000 bushels of oats.

Other crop forecasts.

Sugar beets 15 tons per acre for a total of 1,020,000 tons the same as a month earlier In 1964, Nebraska produced 1,407,000 tons at an average of 16 3.

Soybeans for beans: 27 bushels to the acre, total 18,711,000, rye. 17 bushel per acre average, total 7,615,000; sorghum, production 148,960,000 bushels, dry beans, 1,600 pounds per acre, total production 1,216,000 hundredweight.

State Department Certificate Bestowed Upon Sen. Hruska

Washington (AP)—A State Department certificate was presented Tuesday designating Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., as one of two Senate representatives on a U S. delegation to a United Nations Congress on Prevention of Crime.

The U.N. meeting is being held in Stockholm. Hruska said he and Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the other Senate delegate, decided they would be unable to attend because of congressional work.

Presentation of the certificate was made to Hruska by Francis Cunningham, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., director of the State Department's Office of International Conferences, at the weekly Nebraska Congressional Breakfast.

Cunningham said that although Hruska was unable to attend the department wanted him to have the certificate.

Also at the breakfast was M. O. Steen of Lincoln, Nebraska Game Commission director, who is a delegate to a meeting of the International Association of Game and Conservation Commissioners.

Steen said efforts are being made to develop the state's recreational facilities and tourist trade, and added that the outlook is most encouraging. Among others from Lincoln who attended the breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Washburn and some members of a touring party.

4 Families 'Delighted' By Arrests

Sixteen prisoners will wake up in Lincoln Wednesday morning glad they were captured.

The prisoners, members of four families, were apprehended as part of the Lincoln Jaycees Tourist Arrest Day Tuesday afternoon on Interstate 80 by the State Safety Patrol.

John Beckwith, chairman of the arrest project, said that the four families were picked at random as "typical tourist families."

He said that they looked for cars with out-of-state licenses which were traveling away from the direction of their homes.

The four families picked up were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dingham of Norton, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith of West Covina, Calif., and their five children, Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Johnson of Santiago, Calif., and their three children, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lindmark of Palatine, Ill.

"The first response in every case," Beckwith said, "after we stopped them was shock, but after we convinced them they hadn't broken the law and invited them to be Lincoln's guests they were delighted."

All four families received a free night's lodging at a different Lincoln motel, a tour of the Capitol and a meeting with Gov. Frank Morrison

They were Mayor Dean Petersen's guests at a banquet Tuesday evening where J. Greg Smith, editor of the Nebraskaland magazine, gave a brief presentation on Nebraska.

Free passes to two Lincoln movie theaters, a miniature golf course free pass and a free tank of gas for the next day's travel were also part of their gifts.

Dairy Science Group Hears Ex-Chancellor

A former University of Nebraska chancellor, Dr. R. G. Gustavson, returned to the University campus Tuesday.

The occasion was the opening session of a conference on undergraduate education in dairy science attended by college representatives from 33 states.

Dr. Gustavson, who was Nebraska chancellor from 1946 to 1953, is now special adviser to the president of the University of Arizona and a professor of chemistry.

Dr. Gustavson told college representatives from 33 states at the conference that the ultimate aim of education is "to enable all mankind to participate in the great human adventure."

He said the adventure involves exploration of "our globe and a significant part of the universe" and most importantly an understanding that human environment can be controlled.

No Charges Planned In Rusin Death

Omaha (AP) — Chief deputy County Attorney Arthur D. O'Leary said Tuesday no criminal charges would be filed in the fatal shooting early Monday of Bernard J. Rusin, 29, of Omaha.

O'Leary said he did not have sufficient evidence "to warrant the belief that he (Sanchez) is guilty and I don't believe I can convict him."

Officers said Rusin broke in the door of Sanchez' apartment and seized the patrolman by the shirt collar. A struggle followed and Rusin was shot through the heart.

Rusin was unarmed. O'Leary said Sanchez had received two phone calls saying Rusin was armed and was looking for him shortly before the shooting.

O'Leary said Sanchez and Mrs. Rusin both told substantially the same story regarding the shooting.

66 BUSHELS PER ACRE—

Record Breaking Corn Output Seen For State

. . . Sharp Drop Forecast In Winter Wheat Production

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Tuesday forecast a 1965 Nebraska corn crop of 247,263,000 bushels, a record average of 66 bushels to the acre and a considerable boost over the estimate one month ago.

The prediction based on conditions July 1 had been estimated at 59 bushels per acre and a total of 221,014,000 bushels.

Nebraska's corn production last year amounted to 214,032,000 bushels at an average of 52 to the acre, and the average for the years 1959-63 was 303,161,000 bushels, 53.6 per acre.

Nebraska's corn this year will come from 3,746,000 acres, compared with 4,116,000 in 1964.

In contrast, the department saw a sharp drop in the winter wheat harvest, now nearing completion.

The forecast was for 57,880,000 bushels of wheat at 20 to the acre, against 66,562,000 indicated a month ago on an average of 23 to the acre.

The 1964 production of wheat came to 73,825,000 bushels, averaging 25 from 2,953,000 acres. This year's yield was from 2,894,000 acres. The five-year average was 69,885,000 bushels.

Oats Unchanged

The oats forecast remained unchanged from a month earlier — 27,436,000 bushels, averaging 38 to the acre from 722,000 acres. A year ago Nebraska produced 22,892,000 bushels of oats, an average of 29.5 from an acreage of 776,000

From 1959-63, Nebraska averaged 33,439,000 bushels of oats.

Other crop forecasts.

Sugar beets: 15 tons per acre for a total of 1,020,000 tons, the same as a month earlier. In 1964, Nebraska produced 1,407,000 tons at an average of 16.3.

Soybeans for beans: 27 bushels to the acre, total 18,711,000; rye, 17 bushel per acre average, total 7,615,000; sorghum, production 148,986,000 bushels; dry beans, 1,600 pounds per acre, total production 1,216,000 hundredweight.

Equalization Bomb Lands

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is a far-reaching and fascinating action taken by the State Board of Equalization in its adjustment of assessments as between counties of the state. The board raised a lot of counties, lowered some and left a few as they were in attempting to bring all of them in line with the legal requirement for property values for taxation purposes to be fixed at 35 percent of actual value.

Presumably, actual value should be the true value of your property, more or less what you might expect to receive for the land and/or buildings if you placed the property on the market. Valuations are peculiar in that they make little real difference in certain circumstances but all the difference in the world in other circumstances. They make little real difference when contained within a single governmental subdivision or geographic area such as a city or county. Within such an area, if valuations go up, the mill levy goes down and the tax bill in terms of dollars remains the same in either event.

Valuation And Taxes

That, of course, assumes that values within that area are equal as between one another — that every $10,000 home, for instance, is valued at $3,500. Thus, the 31 percent urban and 15 percent rural assessment increase handed Lancaster County by the State Board will make little real difference in Lincoln and Lancaster County.

It means governmental subdivisions operating on that assessment, the county and school district, will show a smaller mill levy increase, if any at all, but their total take in tax dollars will remain unchanged. This situation has no absolute effect on anything but it does have some interesting points of speculation.

Making the school district and county levy lower, the situation could be an encouragement for city government to hike its spending more than it might otherwise do. The city will not be affected by the state action because the city has its own valuations. On the other hand, with the school and county levy showing favorably in the eyes of the public as a result of valuation increases, the city could look bad with a levy increase, thus tending to make the city a little more conservative. The school and county, on the other hand, could hike their budgets next year on the theory that the low tax levies this year have them looking good in the public's eye.

Any such actions as the above at the county, school or city level would be inappropriate, of course, but such things are bound to enter into the minds of some public officials. A budget based on need is always the objective but what the traffic will bear generally lurks somewhere in the background. The valuation changes made by the state find their greatest significance at the state level where the tax levy runs at about 12 mills on the current budget. While all Lancaster County residents are affected the same under the changes made, there are great differences between Lancaster and the other counties of the state.

Where Lancaster went up 31 percent on urban valuations, Douglas County remained the same. Where Lancaster went up 15 percent on rural properties, Douglas went up only 10 percent. This is a most interesting development since some interests have long disputed whether Lincoln or Omaha paid more nearly their fair share of taxes.

If the state board is right in what it has done, Lincoln has obviously gotten a free ride through the years, to some extent, at the expense of Omaha taxpayers. This is an interesting development, too, in regard to the current income tax question.

Lincoln is among leading advocates of the income tax while Omaha is among leading oponents of the tax. With Omaha now getting a break in valuations through the state board, its opposition to the income tax might be expected to become even more hardened and Lincoln's favor of the income tax route even more prounounced. This kind of thing is seen throughout the state. The changes ordered by the state board are most pronounced in regard to rural property. Three counties were reduced a total of 14 percent each in their rural valuations while other counties were raised as much, in one county, as 90 percent.

Lincoln And Omaha

That is a net change of 104 percent which will make a rather drastic change in the state tax payments of these various county residents. Counties with the big valuation hikes are now likely to look with added favor on the income tax while counties with a reduction in valuations or only a slight increase might not lean so heavily toward the income tax because of their improved property tax situation.

Hallam In And Out

The future of the Hallam nuclear power plant appears cloudy at best but this is not the note of discouragement that it might seem to be. With Atomic Energy Commission cancellation of its contract with Consumers Public Power District for construction and operation of the plant, the project would seem to be about finished.

Consumers officials maintain that this is not necessarily the case, that further use of the plant might still be found. This appears to be highly doubtful since the cost of future work would be borne by Consumers, not the federal government.

The Hallam plant, however, represented only one way of producing power through nuclear energy. Consumers is now talking of development of a larger, 350,000 kilowatt atomic plant of a different design. Speculation centered on the new breeder reactor which actually produces fuel faster than it uses it up.

The state could be discouraged with the results to date in atomic power for the production of electricity but all is not lost. Atomic plants have been developed and are in operation today which are producing power at rates equal to or below conventional steam generation plants.

Power officials from the federal level through the giants of private industry are confident of the future of atomic energy in this field. Nebraska could have had better news than the AEC contract cancellation but much worse things than that have happened to us. Consumers should be encouraged to continue in a pioneering effort that still holds a lot of promise.

States Rights Not Involved

The voting rights law that Congress passed and the President signed aims directly at six Southern states where the Fifteenth amendment to the Constitution is most grossly nullified by state laws which deprive Negroes from voting.

It does so by setting up criteria for voter registration exceeded by most of the states. Only the six fall below the criteria. Some will question it as legislation against an area and therefore an unwarranted invasion of state's rights.

But the Constitution and its amendments are and always have been the highest law of the land and they limit the liberty of states in passing laws under state constitutions that would abridge or nullify the rights granted to all Americans under the federal Constitution. This is a guiding principal of our nation. Under that doctrine it is difficult to make a state's rights case in this instance.

The 15th amendment was enacted almost 100 years ago by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the states. It declares:

'The rights of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The Congress shall have power to enforce this by appropriate legislation."

That is a specific directive and cuts through subterfuges.

It is also to be recalled that this is the fourth effort by Congress to breath life into the 15th amendment. It made its first effort in 1957 and followed more specific legislation in 1960 and 1964. Three such tries in the interest of fair play failed.

We trust that the new law is specific enough to get the job done. A hundred years is too long for any minority to wait for a right so clearly granted by the Constitution.

High Headed Crisis

The abiding Greek crisis has finally settled into a test of wills between young King Constantine and his determined adversary former Prime Minister George Papandreou.

The scheming communists may be hopeful of some solid gains from the feud, but it is essentially a power struggle and should end with the two principal adversaries a little more humble and with Greece a little better off.

It all began when a Greek election named Papandreou premier. That was all right until he began removing governmental figures allied with the king, replacing them with figures loyal to himself. The crisis broke into the open when Papandreou removed from the cabinet the head of the army. A ruler can't afford to lose support of the army so the king acted. He removed Papandreou

Greece is a country which has maintained a democratic facade but has actually conducted itself on the far right with the king and the army providing the muscle. The king and his men felt that democracy was all right as long as it sustained the status quo, but was all wrong if it did not Theoretically the king cannot dismiss the premier who is an elected man. But in this case the king did.

Papandreou is equally high headed and he made a case of it Thus far he has held the support of the majority. Recently the king named Mr. Athanasiadis-Novas, a member of the Papandreou party to the premiership. This should have divided the strength back of Papandreou and given the king the victory. But the Papandreou support would not accept Nova. And that is where the matter now stands.

Certainly there is a point where the king and his former premier can compromise this clash of wills Both are wrong in placing the welfare of the Greek state below their personal wishes.

Governors, LBJ Hold Water Meet

WASHINGTON—The White House meeting on the water emergency being held with the governors of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey will probably start a nationwide drive toward federal aid to clean up water pollution.

"The only way you can get the states and cities to clean up the waterways," said Anthony Celebrezze shortly before his announced retirement as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, "is to handle it the way we did the building of highways.

"The states never did anything about highways until they put across the federal highway bill whereby Washington paid ninety per cent of the cost. Then we developed a beautiful system of throughways," said the man who, as mayor of Cleveland, started one end of a throughway system when extended from Cleveland to Boston without stopping for one light.

☆ ☆ ☆

There are two factors in New York's case which won't help that water-famished city in getting money out of the federal government. They are:

1. New York City has failed to install water-use meters for a large part of its water users. Instead, much of the city still enjoys monthly meters, with no extra charge for exorbitant use.

2. New York abandoned its pumping station on the Hudson River, built during the drought of 1957. It is now scurrying around to reactivate this station, but it will take time plus a lot of cleaning up of polluted water.

Meanwhile, New York filched water from Pennsylvania's supply in the upper Delaware in the Catskills and prayed for rain. The latter was not effective, and the former has brought a Supreme Court order that New York stop stealing Pennsylvania's water supply. After all, Philadelphia has been doing on the Delaware what New York has failed to do on the Hudson—cleaning up polluted river water.

The inescapable facts these eastern states now face are:

A. New York City will be absolutely without water by mid-winter. This is because the ground will be frozen, so there will be no run-off into the by-then-empty reservoirs.

B. The city of Newark may be out of water this fall.

C. The only thing that can save the eastern seaboard is ninety days of almost steady rain—which is not in the cards this time of year.

Hawaii Still An Island Paradise Despite Change

HONOLULU — Paradise is not lost—not yet.

They have put up high-rise hotels so that tourists cackle where palm trees once clattered. They have put higher price tags on the land (have you $1,200,000 for one choice acre?) to keep the drifters and dreamers from settling. They have put New York cut steaks in restaurants that once were Polynesian, have jammed the roads with autos, have cluttered the beaches with lanolined loafers like ourselves . . . but they still haven't spoiled Hawaii.

It remains the land of the sweetest people and pineapples on earth. And no amount of dastardly progress has succeeded in snuffing out the exquisite beauty of its nature — human, and physical.

"If Hawaii is a paradise—and I think it is," author and Hawaii historian James Michener said not long ago, "its men (and women) made it so." The truth of this statement was never clearer than today, six years after the U.S. adopted this chain of islands as its 50th state. Tourism and its odious companion, commercialism, have been expanding with incredible swiftness in Honolulu this past quarter-century, and yet I have never met a man, woman or child who has not fallen in love with these islands.

It can be a costly love affair. Air fare, beach-front rooms, entertainment, are not inexpensive. But, as one friend put it, "you may leave the islands broke, but never bitter." You may come to Hawaii as a Poo Paa (Hawaiian for "hard-headed") cynic, but you are certain to leave it carrying a Lamalama ("torch").

What seems incredible to me is that, even after six years of statehood, this group of beautiful islands still holds a population of eight races who live together, with no prejudice, no riots, no religious bigotry. Kindness and understanding are ingrained in them, as deeply as narrowness is ingrained in the residents of many older, more insular states.

Some people, including a prominent local citizen, were worried that statehood and expanding tourism would change the people here. ("Hawaiians are basically friendly and courteous," a long-time resident told me six years ago, on my last visit. "But the cynicism is bound to come; the drive to 'get somewhere,' to outdo the neighbor, must come.")

But the Hawaiians, rather than being changed by the tourists, have transformed the tourists into better, more understanding human beings. When you are surrounded by genuine warmth, such as the people of this polyglot paradise possess, you soften. A lion on Wall Street abruptly becomes a lamb on Waikiki beach.

But a little Hawaiian is a lovely thing to have in one's vocabulary and, as the islands work their magic upon you, you discover that this is the softest and most fluid of tongues. It sounds like music, is as provocative as a grass skirt. The rules are simple: You pronounce all the vowels, even if there are two or more of them together, and you let the consonants take care of themselves. There are only seven consonants, anyway, h,k,l,m, n,p and w.

Churchmen Lead In Latin America

SANTIAGO, Chile (P)—In the course of this quick swing around the continent, I have talked with presidents, scholars, teachers, soldiers, officials struggling with almost insuperable problems and, now and then, just plain citizens. But most impressive—and perhaps most prophetic for the future—are the new churchmen.

At the head of the list is Roman Catholic Cardinal Silva Henriquez. He is a big, square, solid-looking man, and in his face an almost peasant shrewdness is tempered by a warm smile of understanding. In his austere, high-ceilinged office, the damp chill of winter hardly touched by a small electric heater, he talks with the frankness and directness that are remarkable in a high churchman who has established a noteworthy reputation in the Vatican councils.

Cardinal Henriquez

His influence — and this is a mark of the extraordinary cultural reach of a nation of only 8,000,000 people —in those councils was considerable. He speaks with warmth of his friend, Cardinal Joseph Ritter of St. Louis, and of the late Cardinal Albert Meyer of Chicago, who were his allies on the "liberal" side of the great issues that came before the Vatican councils.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is on the question of the communist threat in Latin America and in Chile that his forthright response is in marked contrast to the doubts, equivocation and obfuscation this reporter has heard elsewhere.

Of course, the Cardinal says, a nation must be strong. But its strength must, above all, be in the capacity to carry out essential social reforms. Social reform is the only answer to communism. And he goes a step beyond this to say that if President Eduardo Frei's program of land reform, housing, new industries to health service, fails, then Chile will go communist.

At the same time, he wants the visitor to understand that the Frei government is not a clerical government. It contains Protestants, Jews and non-Catholics as well as Catholics. In short, this is a national government representing as nearly as possible all the people seeking national solutions.

Too often elsewhere in Latin America there is the consoling view that if all else fails, the military will step in or, in some mysterious fashion, the United States will intervene at the last moment to prevent the worst from happening.

The view of the church in Chile, as expressed by Cardinal Silva Henriquez, is unique in that it confronts reality without flinching. For while temporary expedients such as military dictatorships may stave off the evil hour, they cannot endure against the revolution of rising demand coming from an illiterate and untrained mass springing out of the population explosion.

Another remarkable churchman who has been part of Chile's revolution of rising hope is a Belgian Jesuit, Father Roger Vekemans. Coming here in 1957, he has become deeply involved in the social and political life of the nation, working in the slums, teaching sociology in the Catholic University, collaborating ing with officials of the government carrying out the Frei program of reform.

As a backhanded tribute, the Communist Weekly—the party is legal here and has both a daily and a weekly—devoted two full pages to Father Vekemans, denouncing him as agent 007 of the Curia, the governing body of the church in Rome. It also called him the "Gray Eminence," pulling the strings to manipulate the Frei government. As the ultimate denunciation, he was branded "the traveling salesman, to Bonn, Washington, Paris, Rome, for a brand of renovated capitalism to be substituted for socialism."

There is no question about Father Vekemans' travels. He recently returned from Washington and participation at Aspen, Colo., in a population conference in which Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall and a number of specialists in the population explosion discussed means and methods for checking the tide threatening to overwhelm nation after nation with chaos and eventual famine.

This is, of course, the touchiest of all subjects for the church, with a Vatican commission still to report on the question of artificial birth control. But Father Vekemans leaves no doubt that the citizen must be given a choice through the public health service of how he will regulate the size of his family.

While Cardinal Silva Henriquez gives the conventional responses—that land can be opened up in a country still relatively underpopulated; that with rising income, families will be restricted in size—he says that where abortion has endangered a woman's life, the need for control of conception must be recognized. The fearful toll in lives and medical care in most Latin-American countries from induced abortion is one of the half-obscured evils that weigh heavily on the conscience of those who accept responsibility for their fellow men.

Father Vekemans is a realist, too. Fully aware of the long odds against success in this experiment, with a "Third Force," a "Middle Way," of social reform, he does not deceive himself about the precarious future. Yet, with an extraordinary physical vigor and a breadth of mind even more remarkable, he works 16 to 18 hours a day toward the goals of church and government.

Is the experiment in Chile a pattern for the rest of Latin America if, with the help of substantial American aid, it should succeed here?

Pulling Together

Hildreth, Neb.

If this "one-man, one-vote" rule is to stand, to me it seems against the principles of the forefathers of our land. One-man, one-vote might be the fairest, it is true, if we lived by the rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." But our forefathers knew injustices existed and would probably always be around, so that some protection from a possibly misinformed or misunderstanding majority should be found.

So they decided, one-man, one-vote for the House of Representatives and for the senators, area coverage, which gives some protection to the minority.

A misinformed or misunderstanding majority could say, we have the vote. Let's make the minority row the boat. Of course, we would tell the minority where we want to go, for by our voting we have made it so.

In discussing our problems with a friend in town, we discovered that his income was more than double mine. And yet his taxes for our local, school, precinct, county and state amounts were not quite a third of what was assessed to me.

It seems to me that our forefathers had good foresight, including area coverage to help correct possible abuses by a majority. Our modern way of life leads to the exodus of our farm population, so we have very little to say by our vote in this state or nation.

I hope I am with the majority who say it would be true that it would make no difference who had the vote if we followed the rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Susie Kunc

Fairmont, Neb.

I have a few comments to bring out concerning the letter written by a resident of Omaha regarding the choosing of the new "Sunshine Girl."

The writer of the letter entitled "Politicking" has done a lot of mud-slinging while wearing rubber gloves. The writer finds it easy to mention other people's names but has failed to name himself or herself as the accuser.

Many of the accusations brought out seem to be based on pure hearsay and sound as if they might have been spiced with a little prejudice. The writer of the letter and the niece sound as though they might be prime examples of sore losers and poor sports.

I believe that Susie Kunc's name has been attacked viciously and I think she is due an apology. There has been absolutely no evidence brought out proving that Susie has done any politicking whatsoever, and if Susie had caught Mr. Snyder's eye in the past, I'm sure it was only because of the excellence and style shown in her performance.

Besides being a perfectionist in the art of twirling, she has achieved an excellent scholastic record, has a great personality, is very well groomed and above all, she has the respect of everyone in her community.

I believe the writer displayed a great deal of thoughtlessness when preparing such a letter.

Street Repairs

Lincoln, Neb.

I have never seen a town or city quite like Lincoln for always having some of its downtown streets torn up. All summer long it has been going on. They no more than get one area into shape than the air hammers are busy digging up some other spot.

It has been especially difficult in the region around the Post Office all summer. What with one-way traffic being installed here and there, new lights, the street torn up, rush-hour traffic and a few other things, it is hardly worth the confused pedestrian's life to step off the curb.

And either the new lights are off-beat, or I am losing my cotton-pickin' mind. You can't take a deep breath preparatory to starting across a street before the green "Walk" changes to "Don't Walk." But if we think street repairs are bad now, I suppose we should just wait until September. Then they will really get going. State Fair time is just ahead.

Equalization Bomb Lands

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is a far-reaching and fascinating action taken by the State Board of Equalization in its adjustment of assessments as between counties of the state. The board raised a lot of counties, lowered some and left a few as they were in attempting to bring all of them in line with the legal requirement for property values for taxation purposes to be fixed at 35 percent of actual value.

Valuation And Taxes

Presumably, actual value should be the true value of your property, more or less what you might expect to receive for the land and/or buildings if you placed the property on the market. Valuations are peculiar in that they make little real difference in certain circumstances but all the difference in the world in other circumstances. They make little real difference when contained within a single governmental subdivision or geographic area such as a city or county. Within such an area, if valuations go up, the mill levy goes down and the tax bill in terms of dollars remains the same in either event.

That, of course, assumes that values within that area are equal as between one another — that every $10,000 home, for instance, is valued at $3,500. Thus, the 31 percent urban and 15 percent rural assessment increase handed Lancaster County by the State Board will make little real difference in Lincoln and Lancaster County.

It means governmental subdivisions operating on that assessment, the county and school district, will show a smaller mill levy increase, if any at all, but their total take in tax dollars will remain unchanged. This situation has no absolute effect on anything but it does have some interesting points of speculation.

Making the school district and county levy lower, the situation could be an encouragement for city government to hike its spending more than it might otherwise do. The city will not be affected by the state action because the city has its own valuations. On the other hand, with the school and county levy showing favorably in the eyes of the public as a result of valuation increases, the city could look bad with a levy increase, thus tending to make the city a little more conservative. The school and county, on the other hand, could hike their budgets next year on the theory that the low tax levies this year have them looking good in the public's eye.

Any such actions as the above at the county, school or city level would be inappropriate, of course, but such things are bound to enter into the minds of some public officials. A budget based on need is always the objective but what the traffic will bear generally lurks somewhere in the background. The valuation changes made by the state find their greatest significance at the state level where the tax levy runs at about 12 mills on the current budget. While all Lancaster County residents are affected the same under the changes made, there are great differences between Lancaster and the other counties of the state.

Where Lancaster went up 31 percent on urban valuations, Douglas County remained the same. Where Lancaster went up 15 percent on rural properties, Douglas went up only 10 percent. This is a most interesting development since some interests have long disputed whether Lincoln or Omaha paid more nearly their fair share of taxes.

If the state board is right in what it has done, Lincoln has obviously gotten a free ride through the years, to some extent, at the expense of Omaha taxpayers. This is an interesting development, too, in regard to the current income tax question.

Lincoln And Omaha

Lincoln is among leading advocates of the income tax while Omaha is among leading oponents of the tax. With Omaha now getting a break in valuations through the state board, its opposition to the income tax might be expected to become even more hardened and Lincoln's favor of the income tax route even more prounounced. This kind of thing is seen throughout the state. The changes ordered by the state board are most pronounced in regard to rural property. Three counties were reduced a total of 14 percent each in their rural valuations while other counties were raised as much, in one county, as 90 percent.

That is a net change of 104 percent which will make a rather drastic change in the state tax payments of these various county residents. Counties with the big valuation hikes are now likely to look with added favor on the income tax while counties with a reduction in valuations or only a slight increase might not lean so heavily toward the income tax because of their improved property tax situation.

Hallam In And Out

The future of the Hallam nuclear power plant appears cloudy at best but this is not the note of discouragement that it might seem to be. With Atomic Energy Commission cancellation of its contract with Consumers Public Power District for construction and operation of the plant, the project would seem to be about finished.

Consumers officials maintain that this is not necessarily the case, that further use of the plant might still be found. This appears to be highly doubtful since the cost of future work would be borne by Consumers, not the federal government.

The Hallam plant, however, represented only one way of producing power through nuclear energy. Consumers is now talking of development of a larger, 350,000 kilowatt atomic plant of a different design. Speculation centered on the new breeder reactor which actually produces fuel faster than it uses it up.

The state could be discouraged with the results to date in atomic power for the production of electricity but all is not lost. Atomic plants have been developed and are in operation today which are producing power at rates equal to or below conventional steam generation plants.

Power officials from the federal level through the giants of private industry are confident of the future of atomic energy in this field. Nebraska could have had better news than the AEC contract cancellation but much worse things than that have happened to us. Consumers should be encouraged to continue in a pioneering effort that still holds a lot of promise.

States Rights Not Involved

The voting rights law that Congress passed and the President signed aims directly at six Southern states where the Fifteenth amendment to the Constitution is most grossly nullified by state laws which deprive Negroes from voting.

It does so by setting up criteria for voter registration exceeded by most of the states. Only the six fall below the criteria. Some will question it as legislation against an area and therefore an unwarranted invasion of state's rights.

But the Constitution and its amendments are and always have been the highest law of the land and they limit the liberty of states in passing laws under state constitutions that would abridge or nullify the rights granted to all Americans under the federal Constitution. This is a guiding principal of our nation. Under that doctrine it is difficult to make a state's rights case in this instance.

The 15th amendment was enacted almost 100 years ago by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the states. It declares:

'The rights of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The Congress shall have power to enforce this by appropriate legislation."

That is a specific directive and cuts through subterfuges.

It is also to be recalled that this is the fourth effort by Congress to breath life into the 15th amendment. It made its first effort in 1957 and followed more specific legislation in 1960 and 1964. Three such tries in the interest of fair play failed.

We trust that the new law is specific enough to get the job done. A hundred years is too long for any minority to wait for a right so clearly granted by the Constitution.

The abiding Greek crisis has finally settled into a test of wills between young King Constantine and his determined adversary former Prime Minister George Papandreou.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Churchmen Lead In Latin America

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—In the course of this quick swing around the continent, I have talked with presidents, scholars, teachers, soldiers, officials struggling with almost insuperable problems and, now and then, just plain citizens. But most impressive—and perhaps most prophetic for the future—are the new churchmen.

At the head of the list is Roman Catholic Cardinal Silva Henriquez. He is a big, square, solid-looking man, and in his face an almost peasant shrewdness is tempered by a warm smile of understanding. In his austere, high-ceilinged office, the damp chill of winter hardly touched by a small electric heater, he talks with the frankness and directness that are remarkable in a high churchman who has established a noteworthy reputation in the Vatican councils.

His influence — and this is a mark of the extraordinary cultural reach of a nation of only 8,000,000 people —in those councils was considerable. He speaks with warmth of his friend, Cardinal Joseph Ritter of St. Louis, and of the late Cardinal Albert Meyer of Chicago, who were his allies on the "liberal" side of the great issues that came before the Vatican councils.

It is on the question of the communist threat in Latin America and in Chile that his forthright response is in marked contrast to the doubts, equivocation and obfuscation this reporter has heard elsewhere.

Of course, the Cardinal says, a nation must be strong. But its strength must, above all, be in the capacity to carry out essential social reforms. Social reform is the only answer to communism. And he goes a step beyond this to say that if President Eduardo Frei's program of land reform, housing, new industries to health service, fails, then Chile will go communist.

At the same time, he wants the visitor to understand that the Frei government is not a clerical government. It contains Protestants, Jews and non-Catholics as well as Catholics. In short, this is a national government representing as nearly as possible all the people seeking national solutions.

Cardinal Henriquez

Too often elsewhere in Latin America there is the consoling view that if all else fails, the military will step in or, in some mysterious fashion, the United States will intervene at the last moment to prevent the worst from happening.

The view of the church in Chile, as expressed by Cardinal Silva Henriquez, is unique in that it confronts reality without flinching. For while temporary expedients such as military dictatorships may stave off the evil hour, they cannot endure against the revolution of rising demand coming from an illiterate and untrained mass springing out of the population explosion.

Another remarkable churchman who has been part of Chile's revolution of rising hope is a Belgian Jesuit, Father Roger Vekemans. Coming here in 1957, he has become deeply involved in the social and political life of the nation, working in the slums, teaching sociology in the Catholic University, collaborating ing with officials of the government carrying out the Frei program of reform.

As a backhanded tribute, the Communist Weekly—the party is legal here and has both a daily and a weekly—devoted two full pages to Father Vekemans, denouncing him as agent 007 of the Curia, the governing body of the church in Rome. It also called him the "Gray Eminence," pulling the strings to manipulate the Frei government. As the ultimate denunciation, he was branded "the traveling salesman, to Bonn, Washington, Paris, Rome, for a brand of renovated capitalism to be substituted for socialism."

There is no question about Father Vekemans' travels. He recently returned from Washington and participation at Aspen, Colo., in a population conference in which Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall and a number of specialists in the population explosion discussed means and methods for checking the tide threatening to overwhelm nation after nation with chaos and eventual famine.

This is, of course, the touchiest of all subjects for the church, with a Vatican commission still to report on the question of artificial birth control. But Father Vekemans leaves no doubt that the citizen must be given a choice through the public health service of how he will regulate the size of his family.

While Cardinal Silva Henriquez gives the conventional responses—that land can be opened up in a country still relatively underpopulated; that with rising income, families will be restricted in size —he says that where abortion has endangered a woman's life, the need for control of conception must be recognized. The fearful toll in lives and medical care in most Latin-American countries from induced abortion is one of the half-obscured evils that weigh heavily on the conscience of those who accept responsibility for their fellow men.

Father Vekemans is a realist, too. Fully aware of the long odds against success in this experiment, with a "Third Force," a "Middle Way," of social reform, he does not deceive himself about the precarious future. Yet, with an extraordinary physical vigor and a breadth of mind even more remarkable, he works 16 to 18 hours a day toward the goals of church and government.

Is the experiment in Chile a pattern for the rest of Latin America if, with the help of substantial American aid, it should succeed here?

Pulling Together

Hildreth, Neb.

If this "one-man, one-vote" rule is to stand, to me it seems against the principles of the forefathers of our land. One-man, one-vote might be the fairest, it is true, if we lived by the rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." But our forefathers knew injustices existed and would probably always be around, so that some protection from a possibly misinformed or misunderstanding majority should be found.

So they decided, one-man, one-vote for the House of Representatives and for the senators, area coverage, which gives some protection to the minority.

A misinformed or misunderstanding majority could say, we have the vote. Let's make the minority row the boat. Of course, we would tell the minority where we want to go, for by our voting we have made it so.

In discussing our problems with a friend in town, we discovered that his income was more than double mine. And yet his taxes for our local, school, precinct, county and state amounts were not quite a third of what was assessed to me.

It seems to me that our forefathers had good foresight, including area coverage to help correct possible abuses by a majority. Our modern way of life leads to the exodus of our farm population, so we have very little to say by our vote in this state or nation.

I hope I am with the majority who say it would be true that it would make no difference who had the vote if we followed the rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Susie Kunc

Fairmont, Neb.

I have a few comments to bring out concerning the letter written by a resident of Omaha regarding the choosing of the new "Sunshine Girl."

The writer of the letter entitled "Politicking" has done a lot of mud-slinging while wearing rubber gloves. The writer finds it easy to mention other people's names but has failed to name himself or herself as the accuser.

Many of the accusations brought out seem to be based on pure hearsay and sound as if they might have been spiced with a little prejudice. The writer of the letter and the niece sound as though they might be prime examples of sore losers and poor sports.

I believe that Susie Kunc's name has been attacked viciously and I think she is due an apology. There has been absolutely no evidence brought out proving that Susie has done any politicking whatsoever, and if Susie had caught Mr. Snyder's eye in the past, I'm sure it was only because of the excellence and style shown in her performance.

Besides being a perfectionist in the art of twirling, she has achieved an excellent scholastic record, has a great personality, is very well groomed and above all, she has the respect of everyone in her community.

I believe the writer displayed a great deal of thoughtlessness when preparing such a letter.

Street Repairs

Lincoln, Neb.

I have never seen a town or city quite like Lincoln for always having some of its downtown streets torn up. All summer long it has been going on. They no more than get one area into shape than the air hammers are busy digging up some other spot.

It has been especially difficult in the region around the Post Office all summer. What with one-way traffic being installed here and there, new lights, the street torn up, rush-hour traffic and a few other things, it is hardly worth the confused pedestrian's life to step off the curb.

And either the new lights are off-beat, or I am losing my cotton-pickin' mind. You can't take a deep breath preparatory to starting across a street before the green "Walk" changes to "Don't Walk." But if we think street repairs are bad now, I suppose we should just wait until September. Then they will really get going. State Fair time is just ahead.

Legislators Keep 'No' Buttons Busy

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's lawmakers gave the "no" voting buttons on their desks a workout Tuesday with the result that four of seven bills up for final reading failed to pass

Down the drain went two constitutional amendment proposals—one to put the University of Nebraska and four state colleges under a single governing board, and the other, permitting the state to guarantee long-term, low-interest loans to students.

Also falling short was a bill revising some of the regulations and procedures for conduct of the tax-financed program of research into new uses for farm products

And a tortured school merger bill chiefly sponsored by Beatrice Sen Fred Carstens failed again on a second final reading try

Frigid Reception

Never before at the record-batch of bills on final reading received such a frigid reception

Bills without the emergency clause need 25 "aye" votes to pass Constitutional amendment proposals need 30 votes, and the bills with the emergency clause need 33 votes.

Absences thus hurt the case of the bills.

A two-pronged constitutional amendment bill setting new standards for legislative reapportionment bucked the trend and won 35-7 approval.

The reapportionment bill, LB923, would put on the ballot two specific amendments —(1) requiring reapportionment after each decennial census and permitting the crossing of county lines, and (2) permitting the Legislature to preserve four-year terms for senators whose district boundaries are changed at the middle of their terms.

15 Changes

The action on LB923 raises to 15 the number of constitutional changes which Nebraskans will be asked to ballot upon in the November, 1966, general election.

Constitutional amendment bills passed actually total 13, but two of the bills submit double proposals.

The bill, LB258, proposing to put all state-operated institutions of higher education under a single nine-member board of trustees of higher education received only 15 affirmative votes and 25 opposition votes.

The measure came out of a Legislative Council interim study committee headed by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln. Effect of the amendment would have been to do away with the University of Nebraska Board of Regents and the State Normal Board.

Loan Bill

The other rejected constitutional amendment bill, LB249, also coming out of the Stromer study, started out to propose that the state be allowed to make long-term, low-interest loans to Nebraska high school graduates seeking higher education. But it was altered on the floor simply to permit the state to guarantee such loans

The showdown vote on LB249 was a 21-21 standoff.

Surviving the wave of "no" votes was a Gov. Frank Morrison measure designed to curb so-called "smear literature" during political campaigns.

The bill, LB915, requires campaign literature to carry the names of the persons or committee responsible for the preparation, printing and distribution of the literature. Convicted violators would be fined $200 to $500

The bills passed Tuesday (E emergency clause)

LB923—Submitting to voters two constitutional amendments, (1) requiring reapportionment after each decennial census and permitting crossing of county lines, and (2) permitting the Legislature to preserve four year terms for senators although district lines may be changed at midterm (Government Committee) (35-7)

LB915—Requiring campaign literature to carry the name of the person or committee at whose instance or request such material was printed, published, reproduced or distributed (for the governor, by Burbach, Warner, Orme, Carpenter, Pedersen) (38 2)

[illegible] Clearing title in Charles and Edna Hannon to certain Hall County property in the vicinity of the Interstate Highway correcting an erroneous description in certain deeds (Salaries and Claims Committee) (E) (42 0)

The bills which failed to pass on final reading included

LB688—Permitting two or more Class 1 or 2 school districts to combine with a neighboring Class 3 district to form a new Class 3 district (Carstens, Carpenter) (21 14)

LB258—Submitting to voters a constitutional amendment creating a nine member board of trustees of higher education to govern the University of Nebraska, state colleges and other state-operated institutions of higher education (Stromer, Carpenter, Marvel, Lysinger R Rasmussen, Payne) (15 25)

LB807—Revising regulations on tax financed program of research into new uses for farm products, to require approval of projects by advisory committee, periodic progress reports and audits (Knight) (23-17)

LB249 Submitting to voters a constitutional amendment permitting the state to guarantee long term loans at low interest to students seeking college level education (Stromer, Lysinger, Marvel Carpenetr, Payne R Rasmussen) (21 21)

Veto Of Debt Management Bill Survives

The Legislature refused Tuesday to override Gov. Frank Morrison's veto of a bill calling for State Banking Department regulation of the debt management business

Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner's override motion received a 25-7 assenting vote but needed 30 "aye" votes

Morrison had quoted State Banking Director Henry Ley as saying the measure, LB545, was "unneeded, unnecessary and undesirable and contrary to popular policies."

Warner said there are reports that some debt management firms have charged 30 and 40% for their services. He said there is need for such firms to be licensed and regulated and to "show financial ability and integrity."

He disputed Bar Association objections to the bill on grounds debt management constitutes unauthorized practice of law.

Sen. Ira Paine of Grand Island said he received a telephone call Saturday from a debt management firm favoring the bill and recommended that it be passed over the governor's veto.

Omaha Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. also urged passage of the bill for the protection it provides from "unscrupulous firms."

Paxton Raps Sandhills Land Valuation Hikes

State Sen. Chet Paxton of Thedford Tuesday called the State Board of Equalization's decision to make wholesale increases in land valuations in Nebraska's Sandhills area "unjust and unfair."

He commented after lodging a formal protest with State Tax Commissioner George Dworak, a member of the board.

"I told him the action was not justified and that I am highly displeased," Paxton said. "I intend to discuss the matter in more detail at a later date."

The board revised farm and city land valuations in most counties, but Paxton's 40th Legislative District was among those hardest hit.

Blaine County had its rural property values boosted a whopping 90%, Thomas County 79% and Hooker County 74%.

"This is way too much of an increase in one year," Paxton declared. "It is unjust and unfair to the people of this area of the state."

Paxton said Blaine, Hooker and Thomas Counties are now undergoing scientific reappraisals of land values and that they would be ready by next year.

"The board apparently gave no weight to the fact that the counties are in the process of reappraising their land. I believe this should have been taken into account."

Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, speaker of the Legislature, said the board "really had no other choice."

But, he added, the action means farm property will pay a greater share of the Nebraska tax bill. This, he said, may discourage young people from going into farming and livestock producing.

Bowen urged the board to follow-up its decision on real property by revising personal property valuations "in line with where they should be."

'Dear Old Nebraska U.' Rights Eyed For State

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told the Legislature Tuesday that an effort is being made for the State of Nebraska to acquire the copyright and performing rights to the song. "Dear Old Nebraska U." sometimes referred to also as "There Is No Place Like Nebraska."

If and when this comes about, Carpenter said, future legislatures may wish to consider making it the official state song.

The song has the advantage of being well known to most Nebraskans, he said.

The Legislature earlier at the current session considered a number of songs proposed for adoption as the official state song but rejected all of them.

Carpenter made public a letter from Omaha Attorney Yale C. Holland to Deputy Atty. Gen. Gerald S. Vitamvas in which Holland reported that the Edwin H. Morris and Co. seems to be the owner of the copyright, and ASCAP controls the performing rights. Holland said Morris was being contacted.

"I would think that an assignment of the copyright and a free license from ASCAP to perform the composition publicity would be all that the State of Nebraska would need," the letter said.

Adjournment Can't Come This Week

The Nebraska Legislature cannot adjourn until next week, Speaker Kenneth L. Bowen reported Tuesday.

He said the enrolling clerk's office says it cannot complete work on pending legislation until at least Monday. Other mechnical problems have also developed.

Effort To Revive ADC Increase Loses In Unicam

An effort to revive legislation which would increase payments for aid to dependent children failed Tuesday in the Legislature.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff offered the motion to raise LB754, but his effort fell far short on a 14-20 vote. Thirty-three votes were required.

Cost of financing the increased assistance has been cut in half by federal legislation, Carpenter noted, reducing state obligations under the bill to an additional $1,250,000 for the 1965-67 biennium.

LB754 had been killed in June on a 26-12 vote.

New Budget For Ag College 'Low'

The chairman of the dean's advisory council for the University of Nebraska's College of Agriculture Tuesday attacked as "shortsighted" and "scant" the new budget for the Agriculture College.

H. F. Klosterman, a David City farmer, placed most of the blame on Douglas County senators.

He noted the $5,708,283 budget for the Agriculture College which was adopted by the Board of Regents Friday represents only a 5% increase from the budget for the 1963-65 biennium.

He contended the new budget is "hardly enough to cover the increased costs of wages and prices over the preceding biennium."

Carpenter Suggests Service For Cons

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff suggested in a letter to President Johnson that inmates in the Nebraska penal complex be allowed to volunteer for service in the armed forces.

"It is our opinion that in these days of stress all those who desire to come to the aid of their country be allowed to do so," wrote Carpenter.

Carpenter said he and penal complex Warden Maurice H. Sigler were interested in learning whether regulations of the armed forces could be revised to permit enlistment of convicts.

Choice of inmates, Carpenter suggested, should be based on "selection by the warden and the eventual approval of the armed forces."

He said a pilot project in Nebraska, even "from an experimental standpoint," would serve a good purpose.

Carpenter added: "This method might be able to rehabilitate a great many men and instill in them the desire to become a good citizen, which might not otherwise be accomplished.

"We, of course, do not know how many men would be willing to volunteer nor how many would eventually be accepted. We both would appreciate very much if you will determine whether this is a possibility."

THE SPICE

in suburban life--variety

The thermometer tells us that that time of the year is here again suburban dwellers—cool nights—which are energy builder-uppers for the next day.

This mornings news tells us of more neighborhood get-togethers of guests who are visiting, and of one of the most mouth-watering parties we have heard about, the ice cream social which was held in the Sunnyside Acres area.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Eight families dug out their ice cream freezers, shined them up, and then set them up for action in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Brown. After several quarts of ice cream were made ready for eating, the eight neighborhood families dished up a bowl full of the yummy treat and, with a piece of cake sat down in the most convenient spot. What a fun time they must have had.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lally has been humming with activity. Mr. and Mrs. Lally's son, Tony, just celebrated his second birthday and to mark the grand occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Lally invited 15 of the celebrants' small friends over for ice cream cones. The birthday was a Friday event and on Saturday, Lesa Lally left for Girl Scout Camp—namely, Camp Catron near Nebraska City. Then came Monday and it was Mrs. Lally's turn to go to camp—but it was a different camp and for a different reason. Mrs. Lally served as a camp counselor at the Boys Scout camp, Camp Minis Kuya for five days—and that could keep anyone well occupied.

Someone new to mention in the Sunnyside Acres area is the very young Kristie Renee Spreier daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier. Little Miss Spreier arrived on time July 14 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. When her parents brought home their new prize possession, she was enthusiastically greeted by her older brother, Lonnie who is two, and by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Betty Spreier. On the following Sunday, Kristie Renee was introduced to her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Marquart of Byron—and we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Marquart plan to return again this Sunday to revisit their new grandchild and, of course, to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Spreier and Lonnie.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

There will be a silver wedding anniversary celebrated by one of our Kessler Heights couples on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark will be the guests of honor when an open house will be observed at the First Federal party room.

Guests from Grand Island, Cozad, Palmer and former friends of the honorees while they lived in Iowa will be on hand for the event. Also expected to attend the celebration will be Mrs. Clark's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stout of Wheatridge, Colo. and from Washington D.C., will come Mr. and Mrs. Clark's daughter, Mrs. Charles Turner. Also on hand will be another daughter, Janet, a student at Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing, and their son Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Vries and their two children, Mick and Sandy, of Rock Island, Ill., now are in Colorado on a sight-seeing tour, but Sunday they were in Lincoln for a brief visit with former Rock Island neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Flesher and their son James, who now reside in Kessler Heights. The visit was rather brief, as we said before, but we hear there was enough time to pack a picnic lunch and head for Pioneers Park for a picnic. The gay afternoon in the park included horseback riding.

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

The element of luck determines the outcome of many a hand, but declarer's method of play can sometimes overcome bad luck and change what appears to be a losing cause into a winning one.

Let's say you're playing this hand at four hearts and West leads a diamond. The possible losers are two diamonds, a spade and a heart, so all your thoughts are devoted towards saving one or more of these tricks.

You have to assume a heart loser at the start; without a heart loser you have ten sure tricks. The problem therefore resolves itself into saving one of the other losers.

One way of playing the hand is to win the diamond with the ace, cash the A-K of hearts (hoping the queen will fall), cash the A-K of clubs, and then ruff a club (hoping to find the suit divided 3-3, in which case you can discard a loser on the ten of clubs).

This method of play, while certainly reasonable, results in going down one when the clubs turn out to be divided 4-2. Eventually, you lose four tricks.

There is a better method of play which makes the contract. It covers the possibility that the clubs are divided 4-2, and to that extent, is a vast improvement.

Win the diamond with the ace, play a club to the king, a heart to the ace, and follow with a club to the ace. Now you ruff a club with the nine.

If West overruffs you make the hand, so let's assume he discards something. West's failure to overruff should not fool you, because it is possible for him to have the queen and yet decide to discard.

Your proper play now is a low heart, since this play guarantees the contract, come what may. The best the opponents can then do is take the queen of hearts and two diamonds, after which you establish dummy's fifth club for a discard. You have two sure entries to dummy which make this possible.

Bridal Parties

University of Nebraska coed, Miss Julie Hile, whose marriage to David Spann of Bassett will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 21, will be honored Wednesday evening at a bridal shower to be given by feminine members of Christ Methodist Church congregation.

The party will be held at the home of Mrs. Marvin Snyder, who will be assisted by Mrs. Ralph Campbell and Mrs. John Lind.

On Saturday, the soon-to-be bride and her mother, Mrs. Joe E. Hile, will be hostesses to the feminine members of the bridal party at an 11:30 o'clock luncheon, to be held at the Nebraska Center.

Mrs. Hile and her daughter will continue their hostess roles Saturday afternoon when they will entertain at a trousseau tea at their home. The guests, who will include family members and friends, have been invited to call between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock.

Coming from out of town for both the luncheon and tea will be Mr. Spann's mother and sister, Mrs. Mark Spann, and Miss Mary Spann, and his grandmother, Mrs. Martin Spann, all of Bassett.

Concluding the many courtesies which have honored Miss Hile preceding her late summer wedding will be the dinner on Friday evening, Aug. 20, when Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Hile will be host and hostess in courtesy to their daughter and her fiance. Members of the bridal party and family, as well as out-of-town guests coming for the wedding, have been invited to the dinner which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hile.

Incidentally, Miss Hile was the surprised honoree at a party given Wednesday morning, Aug. 4, by members of the Irish Clovers 4-H Club, of which the bride-elect serves as leader. The group presented Miss Hile with a kitchen shower at the home of the club's junior leader, Linda Green, and her mother, Mrs. Robert Green.

in suburban life--variety

The thermometer tells us that that time of the year is here again suburban dwellers—cool nights—which are energy builder-uppers for the next day.

This mornings news tells us of more neighborhood get-togethers of guests who are visiting, and of one of the most mouth-watering parties we have heard about, the ice cream social which was held in the Sunnyside Acres area.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Eight families dug out their ice cream freezers, shined them up, and then set them up for action in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Brown. After several quarts of ice cream were made ready for eating, the eight neighborhood families dished up a bowl full of the yummy treat and, with a piece of cake sat down in the most convenient spot. What a fun time they must have had.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lally has been humming with activity. Mr. and Mrs. Lally's son, Tony, just celebrated his second birthday and to mark the grand occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Lally invited 15 of the celebrants' small friends over for ice cream cones. The birthday was a Friday event and on Saturday, Lesa Lally left for Girl Scout Camp—namely, Camp Catron near Nebraska City. Then came Monday and it was Mrs. Lally's turn to go to camp—but it was a different camp and for a different reason. Mrs. Lally served as a camp counselor at the Boys Scout camp, Camp Minis Kuya for five days—and that could keep anyone well occupied.

Someone new to mention in the Sunnyside Acres area is the very young Kristie Renee Spreier daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier. Little Miss Spreier arrived on time July 14 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. When her parents brought home their new prize possession, she was enthusiastically greeted by her older brother, Lonnie who is two, and by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Betty Spreier. On the following Sunday, Kristie Renee was introduced to her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Marquart of Byron—and we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Marquart plan to return again this Sunday to revisit their new grandchild and, of course, to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Spreier and Lonnie.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

There will be a silver wedding anniversary celebrated by one of our Kessler Heights couples on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark will be the guests of honor when an open house will be observed at the First Federal party room.

Guests from Grand Island, Cozad, Palmer and former friends of the honorees while they lived in Iowa will be on hand for the event. Also expected to attend the celebration will be Mrs. Clark's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stout of Wheatridge, Colo. and from Washington D.C., will come Mr. and Mrs. Clark's daughter, Mrs. Charles Turner. Also on hand will be another daughter, Janet, a student at Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing, and their son Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Vries and their two children, Mick and Sandy, of Rock Island, Ill., now are in Colorado on a sight-seeing tour, but Sunday they were in Lincoln for a brief visit with former Rock Island neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Flesher and their son James, who now reside in Kessler Heights. The visit was rather brief, as we said before, but we hear there was enough time to pack a picnic lunch and head for Pioneers Park for a picnic. The gay afternoon in the park included horseback riding.

TALK

of the town

Another dawn—and another new page in the guest book—The guest, however, has been in town for a week or two—or three, and plans to remain for another couple of weeks. She is Mrs. Edward East of Palm Springs, Calif. who is the house guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kubitschek. Since her arrival Mrs. East has been honored at numerous courtesies—and there are more to come.

On Friday—with utter disregard for the 13th angle—Mrs. John P. Miller and Mrs. Stanley Mapes will compliment Mrs. East when they entertain at luncheon at the University Club. Ten guests have been invited, and following the luncheon the afternoon will be devoted to bridge.

* * *

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schimmel and their young son, Scott, arrived last Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Schimmel's, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Zelen. We were told that Mr. Schimmel, who is resident manager of the Lincoln-Douglas Hotel in Quincey, Ill., will be in town only for the current week, but Mrs. Schimmel and her small son, will remain for two or three weeks.

* * *

Unfortunately guests do have to return home—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith (Buffie Carpender), for instance, who left on Monday for their home in San Francisco after a stay of several weeks in Lincoln.

While here Mr. and Mrs. Smith divided their time between Mrs. Smith's father, Gerald Carpender, and Mrs. Carpender—and Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith of Valley. They also visited Mrs. Smith's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jameson and their family.

* * *

And fortunately—for us—vacationers do have to come home—Right now we have in mind Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee and their four daughters, Cheri, Susie, Debbie and Nancy who spent a summer holiday in Estes Park, Colo., and who returned home several days ago.

* * *

Back home again, also, are Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick and their children, John, Sarah, Michael and Dorothy. Mr. and Mrs. Minnick devoted 10 days to showing their children Colorado — including the zoo at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I live alone and like it. I am a widow, 51, but am told I look much younger. My children are married and live elsewhere. I have an adequate income, own my own car and travel occasionally, I am not "lonely," and live alone by choice. However, there are times when I wish to go places where ladies cannot go unescorted. This town is too small for an escort service. And the few local bachelors and widowers in my age group have let me know after a few dates that they have matrimony in mind. I do not wish to remarry. Where can I find a reliable escort when I need one? I would gladly pay a fee plus all the expenses, but I want it understood that everything would be on a strictly professional basis. Sign this,

"ESCORT WANTED"

DEAR WANTED: Unless you can afford to "import" a professional escort from the nearest city that has such a service, you will have to break down and ask one of the local matrimonial-minded men to escort you. Tell him you need an escort and nothing more. And don't offer to pay all the expenses and a fee besides, or you'll never get rid of him.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: As an aging grandmother, and mother of three married children, I would like to commend your answer to the "Heartbroken" mother who was sad because her son-in-law had promised her daughter they could baptize their children in her religion, and then went back on his promise. You said, "Skip it. It's THEIR problem." I know how right you were because, I, too, had a daughter whose husband took her away from her own religion. However, they are getting along fine and if religion is a problem to them, it's THEIR problem. When I think of how few years I have left to enjoy my children and grandchildren, I overlook the problems that might estrange them from me. There have been times when I could have cheerfully choked my son-in-law, but that wouldn't bring my daughter back to the church she was reared in, so I mind my own business and pretend I don't see what's going on. I hope "Heartbroken" takes your advice and does the same.

Greeley, Spalding Schools Propose Unique Catholic-Public Classroom Union

By LARRY J. FRUHLING
United Press International

A pair of small, Central Nebraska towns have proposed a unique union of public and parochial schools.

The experiment calls for public school students taking some classes at catholic schools, and vice versa.

Involved are the Greeley Public School and the Sacred Heart School in Greeley, and the Spalding Public School and the Spalding Academy.

The proposal has been presented to the State Accreditation Committee by the Rev. Paul J. Button, Grand Island Diocese superintendent, but no action was taken by the committee.

According to the Rev. Mr. Button, the plan has the blessing of the Spalding and Greeley Public School Boards and parents in the towns are favorable to the arrangement.

A State Education Department official voiced support for the plan Tuesday.

Dr. Leroy Ortgiesen, assistant education commissioner in charge of instructional services, said he had "no objections" to the proposal.

Ortgiesen said: "If they get the job done, I'm happy about it. I'm more concerned about the results than the procedures."

He said the proposal was especially good for Spalding and Greeley because the public and parochial schools are located within two blocks of each other in each of the towns.

He said the experiment would allow both the public and non-public schools to offer a more sound basic education to their students.

"For two small schools," Ortgiesen added, "this seems like a real logical solution."

Possible Conflict

But the plan may present a conflict with a provision of the Nebraska constitution which forbids the use of public funds in private schools.

Ortgisen said he has talked informally with a member of the state attorney general's staff about the situation, but no formal Justice Department opinion was requested.

There is no tax money involved in the Spalding-Greeley plan, he said, but services are exchanged.

"It's like if I asked you to plaster my house without paying you, and in turn I'd do some electrical work on your house," he said. "There's no exchange of money involved, but there is a question of whether trading services is the same as exchanging money."

He said the public and a parochial school at O'Neill are engaged in a program similar to the proposal for Greeley and Spalding, but it's only for the exchange of "enrichment" classes, not basic education.

Ortgiesen said he would not recommend this type of plan for adjoining towns where "students would have to be shipped 15 miles for classes."

Few In Category

"It's only good in a single community where both schools are practically on the same campus," he said, adding that only a handfull of Nebraska communities fall into this category.

The Rev. Mr. Button, in his presentation to the accreditation committee, said the proposal for Greeley and Spalding was only experimental, and not necessarily a continuing policy for any of the four schools involved.

Continuation of the program, he said, would depend on its evaluation by school systems in the towns.

Marathon Is Under Way

The 30-hour skateboard marathon conducted last week by several northeast Lincoln youths—done to challenge Southern California fad-setters—may or may not have reached California.

But it has had its effect on three other northeast Lincoln boys who started a 24-hour bicycle marathon at 6:33 a.m. Tuesday.

They are John Sumetion, 3125 Shirley Court; Joe Rocke, 3101 Shirley Court, and David Bergfeld, 3220 No. 16th.

Their goal is to ride as many miles as possible by circling a square city block in the No. 68th area between Cotner and Adams.

Pawnee County Against Valuation Cut

Pawnee County doesn't want the assessed valuation cut handed it by the State Board of Equalization.

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said the valuation decrease could force the southeast Nebraska county to adopt a mill levy higher than allowed by state law in order to raise the revenue needed for the county.

Dworak said he was informed by County Commissioner Clifford Boehmer of Dubois that the county is at the levy ceiling and the valuation cut "would cause a big problem."

Dworak said he referred Boehmer to the attorney general's office for advice on the situation.

Boehmr said the County Board wanted to appear before the state equalization board to discuss the problem.

Pawnee County's valuation was cut 24% on urban property and 13% on rural and was the largest decrease ordered by the state board.

Meanwhile, Dworak reported, the board has scheduled a meeting for Thursday at 4 p.m. to set the state property tax levy, which is currently $9.14 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Gerdes To Call Meeting On Fort

State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance said Tuesday he will call a meeting later this month in an attempt to settle differences over use of land at Fort Robinson in Northwest Nebraska.

"Actually, the differences are small when you get right down to it," said Sen. Gerdes, named by Gov. Frank Morrison Monday to head a special negotiation committee.

Sen. Gerdes said he and other members of the committee—Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen, State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, State Game Commission Director Mel Steen, Dean Elvin F. Frolik of the University of Nebraska's College of Agriculture, and a representative of the U.S. Agriculture Research Service — will meet at Fort Robinson to draft a land use plan.

The committee was assigned the task of settling differences arising from conflict between the beef research operations at the fort and the tourism, recreational and historic potential of the facility.

"I think we've already reached a tentative agreement," said Gerdes, who met with federal officials at the fort last weekend.

Meanwhile, Gov. Morrison said he is writing letters to all prospective U.S. House of Representative members on the joint Senate-House conference committee to urge approval of a $600,000 appropriation so the beef research activities at Fort Robinson can be transferred to Clay Center.

He said the transfer would permit full utilization of the fort as an historic and recreational site.

Hill-Burton Allocations Still To Come

State Health Director E. A. Rogers said Tuesday several hospital and nursing home projects "are definitely still in the running" for federal Hill-Burton construction funds this year.

The State Hospital Advisory Council Friday recommended federal allocations totaling $1,421,900 for 11 projects. Since Nebraska is expected to receive $2,034,000 in Hill-Burton funds for the fiscal year which began July 1, that leaves a cushion of $691,-500.

The State Board of Health, which has the final word on distribution of federal funds, will meet in September to set the allocations. However, Dr. Rogers said the board actually has until June of next year to allocate 1965-66 funds.

"There's a possibility that another two or three projects might be approved, or projects already given tentative approval might be given more funds," Dr. Rogers said. "It depends on how much Congress allocates and what projects are ready to go under contract."

Verne A. Pangborn, chief of the State Health Department's hospital division, said Congress is expected to atke final action on Hill-Burton allocations this week.

Program Aiding Draft Rejectees Seeks Personnel

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said Tuesday personnel are being recruited to operate a program aimed at aiding Nebraska youths rejected by the armed services.

Dr. Rogers said the first federal funds to operate the project were received by the department last Friday.

He predicted the program would be in operation by early September.

The key to the program is a counselor at the armed serviceh examining station in Omaha who will interview draftees and volunteers who are rejected because of physical or emotional problems.

Follow-up interviews will determine if the rejectee has taken steps to overcome the difficulties discovered at the examining center.

Education Units Bill Is Signed

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday afternoon signed into law the educational service unit bill, LB301, and termed it "the most important bill passed by the Legislature this session."

He presented to Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen, chief sponsor of LB301, a pen used in signing the bill and thanked the Hooper lawmaker for "a distinct service to the State of Nebraska."

LB301 divides Nebraska into 19 educational service units. Each would serve as the agency to help provide special educational services to school districts and for school children in the area.

Gov. Morrison applauded the regional approach and voiced hope that it will come more and more into use also in the fields of soil and water conservation, recreation and industrial development.

He described LB301 as "an initial and historic step" which establishes Nebraska's leadership "among all the states" in this respect. He predicted it will receive national attention.

Meeting Set On School Lands Sale

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday called a meeting of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds and state senators who pushed for the sale of Nebraska's 1.6 million acres of public school lands.

A bill calling for selling the land, LB234, was passed Monday for the Legislature and sent to Morrison for his signature.

The governor called the meeting for later this week after an hour-long session with 10 senators who advocate the sale of the land.

Morrison said he has an "open mind" on the proposal. The board is generally opposed to selling the land.

Rail Spokesman Says Crew Law Repeal Hits Few

A railroad industry spokesman said Tuesday the bill repealing the state's full crew law as it applies to freight trains actually will affect only a small number of men.

The measure, LB336, signed into law last week by Gov. Frank Morrison, provides in effect that firemen are no longer required on diesel freight trains. It probably was the most bitterly contested labor legislation passed this session.

"Actually, the phase-out of firemen has for the most part already been accomplished," said E. R. Miller of the Nebraska Railroad Association. "There's not many firemen left who are working diesels."

Miller said at one time Nebraska's five railroads employed about 275 firemen within the state, but most of these men have either been offered other jobs with the railroad or severance pay. He said most of them are accepting the severance pay and seeking work elsewhere

Miller said the phase-out of firemen began in May of last year when Congress passed legislation repealing the federal full crew law.

Rail Spokesman Says Crew Law Repeal Hits Few

A railroad industry spokesman said Tuesday the bill repealing the state's full crew law as it applies to freight trains actually will affect only a small number of men.

The measure, LB336, signed into law last week by Gov. Frank Morrison, provides in effect that firemen are no longer required on diesel freight trains. It probably was the most bitterly contested labor legislation passed this session.

"Actually, the phase-out of firemen has for the most part already been accomplished," said E. R. Miller of the Nebraska Railroad Association. "There's not many firemen left who are working diesels."

Miller said at one time Nebraska's five railroads employed about 275 firemen within the state, but most of these men have either been offered other jobs with the railroad or severance pay. He said most of them are accepting the severance pay and seeking work elsewhere

Miller said the phase-out of firemen began in May of last year when Congress passed legislation repealing the federal full crew law.

School Employes Get Medical Plan

. . . COST: $25,000

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Hospitalization and major medical plans and $5,000 worth of life insurance will be available to Lincoln school district employes this year at group rates, with the Board of Education contributing some $25,000 per year toward payment of employes' premiums.

A school board resolution Tuesday authorized the district to become the program applicant and allows the commercial companies to solicit the employes individually.

The life insurance, to be offered by Bankers Life Nebraska, will be available to employes-only at a cost of $3.30 a month.

However, the hospitalization and major medical plans, with Blue Cross-Blue Shield, will be offered to both the employe and his dependents, although district funds will only be applied to the employe's premium of $7.90 per month.

Up To $10,000

The plan covers a semi-private room or $18 per day and major medical costs up to $10,000, according to E. Ellsworth Peterson, Lincoln Education Association insurance chairman.

Reed Schaefer, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, said that the $25,000 would pay "approximately one-ninth of the employe's monthly premium."

Peterson explained that all employes of the district who work at least 30 hours per week are eligible to enroll in the group insurance. He said that coverage for the certificated personnel would be effective Nov. 1, but all other employes would have to be employed three months before they could participate.

Two freeholders' petitions, the first under the new law permitting students of non-accredited high schools to seek entrance to accredited high schools, were accepted Monday by the board.

Board action permits children of George Wood and Lawson Bird to attend Lincoln Southeast instead of Walton High. Final approval must be granted by a Lancaster County committee.

Workable Policy Sought

In addition the board, warned about possible future area residents by Supt. Steven Watkins, directed its attorney, Willis Hecht, to "devise a workable policy" as to acceptance and rejection of petitions.

Action was deferred on a school policy of leave for academic work as board members argued about the provision of salary allowance which would pay employes on leave the difference between their rate of pay and the salary of their replacement.

The leave, which may be granted for study or travel, would be available only to employes who have served in the district seven consecutive years, would require a report at its conclusion, and would require that employes return to service in Lincoln for at least two years.

The proposal, which will be considered at the next meeting Sept. 8, was defended by Personnel Director Carroll Sawin, claiming that there would be no cost to the board. He added that such leave would help an employe in advanced study which he might otherwise be unable to do, and it would be a benefit to the district.

Action was also deferred on the crossing of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. right of way from Wilshire Blvd. and LaBrea Ave. to Riley Elementary until representatives of the school, city and railroad can meet.

City officials Robert Obering and Robert Holsinger presented the City Council's position, stating that liability, cost of sidewalk and watchman should be shared.

Sufficient

Board members suggested that the use of an elementary safety patrol would be sufficient if that were agreeable with the railroad.

Considerable discussion also accompanied the acceptance of bids on musical instruments. Board President Robert Wekesser expressed could use "less than top- the opinion that schools could use "less than top-quality" instruments for practice and general use, and he voted against the acceptance.

Bids accepted by the board of education Tuesday included:

—Music instruments and equipment totalling $13,110.14.

—Pegler and Co., kitchen equipment, $5,186.

—Audio-visual equipment, totalling $32,070.22.

—Commonwealth Electric, rewiring Park School, $54,700.

—ABC Electric, rewiring Irving Junior High, $122,200.

—Texaco, Inc., furnishing No. 2 fuel oil for 1965-66 school year, at $.0936 per gallon, with one per cent off upon payment in 10 days.

Youth For Christ Rally Scheduled Saturday Night

Lincoln Youth for Christ is presenting a rally Saturday evening at 7:30 in the Gateway Auditorium of the Gateway Shopping Center.

The rally will feature the film, "Through Gates of Splendor," which has been called the greatest human interest story in the last ten years.

The film is about five men who try to reach the Auca Indians of South America, but who lose their lives in the attempt. Much of the film was shot by the five men.

Bee Trap

Tokyo — A swarm of bees forced residents in southern Tokyo to lock themselves in their home in stifling heat for nearly three hours early this week. Health officials were called out to remove the bees with insecticides.

County's State Tax Share Up For 1965

Lancaster County taxpayers will pay $9.10 of every $100 in 1965 real estate taxes collected for state government.

Before the valuation increases ordered by the State Board of Equalization, the county would have paid $7.69 per $100 collected.

According to figures compiled by the State Tax Commissioner's office, Douglas County will pay the largest share.

Douglas To Pay $21.43

Douglas County will pay $21.43, but would have paid $22.85 before the sweeping revision of county assessment levels by the board.

Only 11 counties were left unchanged as the board ordered increases or decreases for all others.

Blaine County, which was increased 90% on rural property, will pay $1.71 as its share of every $100 real estate taxes for state operations.

Would Have Been $1

Other typical adjustments resulting from the equalization move were Sarpy County, increased from $1.98 to $2.15; Pawnee, decreased from 43 cents to 34 cents; Cherry, upped from $1.02 to $1.27 and Lincoln, hiked from $1.67 to $1.83.

Similarly, Scotts Bluff County increased from $1.97 to $2.05 while Gage dropped from $1.90 to $1.60 as its proportionately share of state government based on every $100 of state property taxes.

Valuation Up, County Levy May Be Lower

Lancaster County Commissioners indicated Tuesday that the county's mill levy for the 1965-66 fiscal year may be lower than anticipated due to the state's decision to raise assessed property valuations in Lancaster County.

The State Board of Equalization Monday boosted the urban property valuation in Lancaster County 31%.

According to officials, the more than $54.6 million increase would result in approximately $327,000 being raised by a mill as compared with $272,000 previously.

The county's mill levy is now 5.42, and it was estimated that the requests for the 1965-66 fiscal year might necessitate raising the levy to as much as seven mills based on the $272,000 raised by one mill.

The commissioners are expected to adopt a budget by the latter part of August after the state levy is set Thursday.

New Building For Sheridan Lutheran Set

Contracts were signed Tuesday night for construction of a new $328,000 church building at 37th and Sheridan Blvd. for the congregation of Sheridan Lutheran Church.

The building will be near, and connected to, the educational unit which has served as church building since the congregation was organized 12 years ago.

Beall Construction Co. of Lincoln, was awarded the $227,465 general construction contract. Cornhusker Heating and Air Conditioning Co. of Lincoln, was awarded the $26,564 heating contract. An $18,714 electrical contract went to Brite-Way Electric, Omaha and Lincoln, and an $18,280 plumbing contract went to Morrissey Plumbing and Heating Co., Lincoln.

Contracts totaled $291,023, but expenses and furnishings not covered in the contracts will boost the total cost to an estimated $328,331.

Designed by Lincoln Architect Arthur E. Duerschner, the building will have a sweeping concave roof line, and will accommodate 525 worshippers. Completion by the fall of 1966 is expected.

Participating in the contract signing were church council members headed by Gene J. Wolken, congregational president. Walter J. Kreuscher heads the biulding committee, and Cread F. Pettey is chairman of the finance committee.

Actress Names Baby

Oxford, England (UPI) — Academy Award-winning actress Patricia Neal and her script writer husband Roald Dahl decided on a name for their new daughter. The girl, named Lucy, was born to Miss Neal who is still recovering from a triple stroke suffered six months ago which has left her partially paralyzed. The actress is scheduled to leave the Nuffield Maternity Home Friday for her home at nearby Great Missenden.

Boy Released After Treatment; Fell From Car

A 10-year old Lincoln boy who suffered a bump on the head when he and his brother were thrown from a car was released from Bryan Memorial Hospital early Tuesday.

He is Jerry Bockoven, of 1411 Atlas. 13-month-old brother, Jeffery, was sitting on his lap at the time and was unhurt. Jerry was held for observation.

Norman E. Bockoven, 36, was driving the car when the mishap occurred, police said.

Dr. Thompson Resigns School System Position

The resignation of Dr. John C. Thompson, director of health, physical education and safety, was announced at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday.

The resignation is effective Oct. 1.

Thompson is resigning to accept a position with the Colorado State Department of Education.

No replacement has been appointed to the position, according to Supt. Steven Watkins.

Cary Grant's Return

Bristol, England (UPI)—Actor Cary Grant and his new bride, Dyan Cannon, returned to Bristol after an absence of more than a week. They went immediately to their hotel where they declined to talk with newsmen.

AMA Magazine Sets Baby Goals

Chicago (UPI)—Most babies should be able to sit without support by seven months and walk alone by 15 months, said an article in the current issue of Today's Health Guide, an American Medical Association (AMA) publication.

The magazine cautioned that no two children are alike, and child development can vary widely. But it did propose approximate stages of advancement.

By one month, an average infant will raise his chin off the bed. By four months he can sit with support.

At 11 months, the magazine said, most infants can walk if led by one hand, and between 13 and 15 months they can climb a few stairs, stand alone and walk alone.

Lincoln Boy Hurt As Chase Ends In Crash

An 18-year-old Lincoln boy was listed in fair condition Tuesday in Douglas County Hospital where he was admitted after the car he was driving collided with a farm truck following a high speed chase in Lancaster and Cass Counties.

He is Daniel J. Michel, 18, of 2675 So. 13th, who was driving a stolen car, according to the State Safety Patrol.

Both the car and the truck were destroyed. Truck driver Merlin Studer of Beattie, Kan., was not injured.

State Trooper Loran Baumhover said speeds during the 38-mile chase ranged from 120 miles per hour on the Interstate to 110 on Neb. 50.

The car was reportedly taken late Monday night from Randolph Oldsmobile Co. 21st and N.

Mayor Approves Northeast Park Shelter Contract

Mayor Dean Petersen Tuesday approved the bid of Lincoln Steel Corporation for furnishing and erecting a steel shelter building for Northeast Park at a cost of $4 811.82.

He also approved a contract with the T & M Construction Co. for the construction of sidewalks in Woods Park at a cost of $4,641.

Retired Merchant Strasheim Dies

A retired Lincoln businessman, George Strasheim Sr., 88, of 1345 So. 10th, died Tuesday.

Mr. Strasheim

Formerly from Russia, he had been a Lincoln resident for 63 years.

Mr. Strasheim was in the retail fuel and coal business for 42 years and had been retired for the past 13 years.

He was a member of the Welfare Society Inc.

Survivors include his sons, George Jr. and Carl F., both of Lincoln, and Jake of Norfolk; a brother, Gus Lebsock of Lincoln; sisters, Mrs. George Bauer and Mrs. George Stroh, both of Lincoln.

Man Apparently Electrocuted

Omaha (AP) — Donald Weist, 26, of Omaha, was found in the backyard of his home late Monday night and police said he apparently had been electrocuted.

Investigators said Weist apparently had hooked two rods to a 110-volt power line to seek night crawlers in the yard. Standard procedure, they said, is to use six or 12 volt batteries.

Weist suffered severe chest burns.

An autopsy was scheduled.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. No Trouble Seen

The count is now something like 14-0 in favor of those pre-season publications picking the Nebraska football team to wrap up its third straight Big Eight title.

The 1965 Football Handbook published by United Press International for businesses that want to give away the booklet for advertising purposes is the latest to jump on the Husker wagon.

"Nebraska won its second straight conference title last year with a sophomore-laden squad," the booklet points out. "The Cornhuskers shouldn't have any trouble making it three straight.

"They lost only one member of their starting eleven. Among those returning are Bob Churchich, the conference's leading passer last season, plus a pair of fine ends, 6-5 Freeman White and 6-3 Tony Jeter.

"Missouri shapes up as the leading challenger. Dan Devine's boys battled Nebraska almost on even terms last season before bowing, 9-0. They have a fine signal-caller, too, in Gary Lane.

"Oklahoma's first season under head coach Gomer Jones last year featured an upset victory over Nebraska. Jones claims his Sooners are still learning, but that's difficult to believe. They're always tough."

Skipping Around

Taking a look at sports on several fronts:

Steve Renko, Kansas football and baseball star who lost his No. 1 quarterbacking job last season to Bob Skahan, won't be with the Jayhawks for his final season. Renko has signed a $12,000 bonus contract with the New York Mets.

Two more Lincolnites have been entered in a national hole-in-one sweepstakes with first prize a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000. The latest entries are C. W. Battey who scored his hole-in-one at the Lincoln Country Club and Charles D. Reynolds who scored a one at Pioneers.

Thoroughbred racing was the leader among spectator sports for the 13th consecutive year in 1964, according to the annual survey on sports attendance conducted by the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

Attendance at the nation's Thoroughbred tracks totaled 40,827,872, a gain of 2,191,577 from the previous year. Baseball attendance for both major and minor leagues totaled 31,594,000 while football, including 622 schools in the college circuit, the National, American and Atlantic Coast pro leagues plus the post-season bowl games drew 30,708,631.

Omaha's Ak-Sar-Ben track ranked fourth in attendance among Thoroughbred Racing Association-member tracks during June, the TRA points out. Ak-Sar-Ben, with 482,174, trailed the 1,188,587 at Hollywood Park, the 771,182 at Aqueduct and the 715,615 at Suffolk Downs.

Former Nebraska gridder Don Heldt who was trying out as a linebacker has been cut by the Denver Broncos . . . Jim Houston of Omaha continues to lead the championship rodeo standings in the bareback bronc riding division with $11,288 . . . Big Eight sports writers are still awaiting the arrival of the Kansas football brochure . . . The KU basketball preview reached the sports desks a couple of months ago . . . This must make Jack Mitchell feel like he's king at Lawrence.

North Coaches Plan Contact

Redding, who plans platoon football as does Art Bauer, chief of the South coaching staff, was busy Tuesday stressing fundamentals and plotting out ways to stop the South backfield speed which Bauer hopes will overcome a North weight advantage.

Redding, a Split-T coach, was well pleased with his fullback candidates — Dick Davis of Omaha North and Gernon Longo of Creighton Prep who will fill a vital post in the Redding offense.

SMITH LEADS MEN'S GOLF

First Round 70 Takes City Field By Surprise

. . . TABER, BORNER CARD 71s

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ed Smith, a Lincoln business executive who has never won or even led a Lincoln City Men's Golf Tournament, took the first round lead Tuesday with a two-under-par 70 at the Lincoln Country Club.

Smith never took the cover off his driver as he toured the tight LCC layout, using a 3-wood off the tee on all except the par-3 holes and No. 1 where he used a 3-iron and No. 3 where he used a 4-iron off the tee.

Smith, playing in a threesome with defending champion Matt Taber and former champion Charlie Borner, had to have the two-under-par round even to win honors in his threesome as both Taber and Borner tied for second with 71s.

No one else in the field of 209 bettered or matched par as golfers played over both the Lincoln Country Club and Hillcrest courses.

And Smith needed an eagle to take the one-stroke margin over Borner and Taber as the low-handicap golfers move to Pioneers for today's second round.

Smith, who won the Hillcrest Country Club championship last week with a 7 and 6 victory over Gene Chadwell in their 36-hole finals match, used a 3-wood off the tee on the 13th hole and a 3-wood second shot to put the ball four feet from the pin on the 548-yard, par-5 hole.

The four-foot putt gave him the eagle-3 and put him three-under par at that point. A bogey-5 at the 16th put him back to two-under where he finished.

The Hillcrest golfer played the first seven holes in par, then slipped in an eight-foot putt for a birdie on the 524-yard, par-5 eighth to make the turn in 35.

He went two-under-par with a four-foot birdie putt at the par-5, 570-yard 11th after hitting his drive into the adjoining 17th fairway.

A bogey at the par-3, 240-yard 12th put him back to one-under, but then came the eagle at the 13th.

Taber and Borner both started out better than Smith with Taber barely missing birdie putts on three of the first four holes and Borner going one-under with a six-foot putt for a birdie on the second hole.

After parring the first four holes, Taber birdied the fifth and sixth holes with birdie putts of 12 and three feet, respectively.

But when the runner-up in the state tournament hit one out of bounds on No. 9, the double-bogey put him even with 36 at the turn.

Borner also made the turn in 36, coming back with a birdie on the ninth after going one-over-par when he hit traps on the fourth and seventh holes.

A 15-foot birdie putt on the 11th and a two-footer for a birdie at No. 13 put him two-under before he pulled a tee shot into the trees on No. 16 and had to chip back into the fairway.

He had a chance to tie Smith on No. 17, but a four-foot putt for the birdie just missed.

After hitting the ball out of bounds on the ninth for a double-bogey-6 and a bogey-6 on No. 11, Taber, bidding for a second straight title, regrouped and finished with birdies on Nos. 13-14-17.

He hit a driver and a 3-iron to the green on the 548-yard, par-5 13th and sank birdie putts of eight feet on both the 14th and 17th.

The closest challengers to the three leaders is Ronnie Richards, son of Hillcrest pro Bunnie Richards. Ronnie shot 36-37 over the 6,709-yard, par 36-36 LCC course.

South Coaches Impressed By Five Players

Crete (AP)— Two backs and three linemen impressed the South Shrine Bowl football squad coaches in Tuesday's workouts at the Doane College camp. The backs were Larry Frost of Malcolm and Bob Best of McCook and the linemen were Ken Gilchrist, Boys Town center, tackle Joe Armstrong, Beatrice, and end Gary Thompson of Lincoln Northeast.

In punting drills the kicking was handled by Armstrong, Frank Brill, Lincoln High and Ron Muff, Crete. Blocking and tackling got the morning attention with ball handling, play patterns and kicking stressed in the afternoon.

Head coach Art Bauer of Lincoln Northeast said he planned to use separate offense and defense units.

—NO 67s THIS YEAR—

Smith Nearly Led One Other Time

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ed Smith was the last of the three low finishers to leave the Lincoln Country Club course after Tuesday's opening round in the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament.

And you couldn't blame him for checking the scoreboard frequently to see if his two-under-par 70 was going to stand up as the first-round leader.

Smith was asked during a question and answer session following his round if he had ever led a city tournament before.

"No," was the reply from the regular on the Nebraska tournament trail who has been playing in the city tournament since 1952. "But, I thought I was one year until Roy Wythers came in after me with a 67."

There were no 67s Tuesday as Smith played the LCC course in a similar style to Wythers who won the tournament after opening with a 67 in 1958.

Wythers played the entire tournament that year, never using more than a 1-iron off the tee at the Lincoln Country Club. Smith never used more than a 3-wood off the LCC tees Tuesday.

"That's how I generally play this course," Smith explained, referring to the 3-wood strategy, "but never this successfully."

And if you could use "gimme" putts in stroke-play competition, Smith admitted he might not have been the sole leader in Tuesday's opening round.

He referred to the four-foot birdie putt that Charlie Borner missed on the 17th that would have tied Borner with Smith.

"Charlie had been putting so well, knocking them in from all over, that when I saw that four-footer, I thought it was a gimme," Smith recalled.

"That one really hurt," Borner observed, speaking of the miss from four feet. "I was only hitting the ball fair today and put the emphasis on only fair."

Taber admitted that he had a brief letdown after hitting his tee ball out of bounds on the ninth hole.

"I thought I had things going real good as I went to that hole," he explained. "I had just missed several birdie putts on the first few holes and had birdies on Nos. 5 and 6.

"And No. 9 is a birdie hole. I wanted to be sure to keep the ball a little to the right where you can just hit a wedge to the green. I sure didn't want to be to the left.

"That's what made me sick about the shot, because I had thought so much about keeping it to the right and when I hit it out of bounds to the left, I just felt sick."

Despite the two-stroke penalty, Taber still nearly saved the hole with only a bogey. But his five-footer rimmed the cup and stayed out.

Hernandez Gets Year Suspension

Hernandez rammed his car into a wall Saturday night. Both he and his girl companion escaped injury. The champion admitted the accident but said he was not drunk and would appeal the suspension.

The commission said its rules demanded that boxers must lead an exemplary private, as well as public, life.

Erratic Day At Columbus

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Columbus — Times were slow and horses erratic on the opening day of the 21-day racing meet at Agricultural Park here Tuesday.

One of this year's innovations at Agricultural Park has been extensive resurfacing of the track. Although the first turn has been reshaped and elevation added to the outside, the new surface on the rest of the track was not yet packed and tended to cut times down by three or four seconds.

The racing, however, was just as exciting as favorites and longshots split the wins evenly on the eight-race card.

Crown Chief (No. 4), a 7-1 shot in the first race, and Kin Fly (No. 1), an 11-1 shot in the second, combined wins to return a daily double of $274.80.

Barton H. Ford's Crown Chief saved ground until the stretch when he came from the pack and won driving. Wise Page, the 6-5 favorite of the crowd, followed Crown Chief from the pack but could not catch him, losing by a neck.

Kin Fly, ridden by apprentice Fred Acridge, went to the outside in the final turn and put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to edge heavily favored Tennessee Col. by ½-length.

The winner at 11-1 odds returned $26.20, $12.20 and $5.60; Tennessee Col. paid $3.00 and $2.80, with Mr. Buckup $3.20 to show.

The $1,500 Elks Country Club Inaugural Handicap was won by 7-5 favorite Load And Leave.

The winner sprinted to the lead from the gate, increased her lead in the backstretch and coasted home for a three-length victory over place horse Annie Ghan.

Provo-Rae came from the pack in the final turn and drove to the wire to post the highest pay off of the day. The 22-1 shot returned $47.20, $21.40 and $6.40 for the win.

The track attendance of 3,075 was up 179 over a year ago on the opening day of the meeting. Mutuel Handle, however, was down $6,326 at $113,274.

No Trouble Seen

The count is now something like 14-0 in favor of those pre-season publications picking the Nebraska football team to wrap up its third straight Big Eight title.

The 1965 Football Handbook published by United Press International for businesses that want to give away the booklet for advertising purposes is the latest to jump on the Husker wagon.

"Nebraska won its second straight conference title last year with a sophomore-laden squad," the booklet points out. "The Cornhuskers shouldn't have any trouble making it three straight.

"They lost only one member of their starting eleven. Among those returning are Bob Churchich, the conference's leading passer last season, plus a pair of fine ends, 6-5 Freeman White and 6-3 Tony Jeter.

"Missouri shapes up as the leading challenger. Dan Devine's boys battled Nebraska almost on even terms last season before bowing, 9-0. They have a fine signal-caller, too, in Gary Lane.

"Oklahoma's first season under head coach Gomer Jones last year featured an upset victory over Nebraska. Jones claims his Sooners are still learning, but that's difficult to believe. They're always tough."

Skipping Around

Taking a look at sports on several fronts:

Steve Renko, Kansas football and baseball star who lost his No. 1 quarterbacking job last season to Bob Skahan, won't be with the Jayhawks for his final season. Renko has signed a $12,000 bonus contract with the New York Mets.

Two more Lincolnites have been entered in a national hole-in-one sweepstakes with first prize a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000. The latest entries are C. W. Battey who scored his hole-in-one at the Lincoln Country Club and Charles D. Reynolds who scored a one at Pioneers.

Thoroughbred racing was the leader among spectator sports for the 13th consecutive year in 1964, according to the annual survey on sports attendance conducted by the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

Attendance at the nation's Thoroughbred tracks totaled 40,827,872, a gain of 2,191,577 from the previous year. Baseball attendance for both major and minor leagues totaled 31,594,000 while football, including 622 schools in the college circuit, the National, American and Atlantic Coast pro leagues plus the post-season bowl games drew 30.708.631.

Omaha's Ak-Sar-Ben track ranked fourth in attendance among Thoroughbred Racing Association-member tracks during June, the TRA points out. Ak-Sar-Ben, with 482,174, trailed the 1,188,587 at Hollywood Park, the 771,182 at Aqueduct and the 715,615 at Suffolk Downs.

Former Nebraska gridder Don Heldt who was trying out as a linebacker has been cut by the Denver Broncos . . . Jim Houston of Omaha continues to lead the championship rodeo standings in the bareback bronc riding division with $11,288 . . . Big Eight sports writers are still awaiting the arrival of the Kansas football brochure . . . The KU basketball preview reached the sports desks a couple of months ago . . . This must make Jack Mitchell feel like he's king at Lawrence.

North Coaches Plan Contact

Redding, who plans platoon football as does Art Bauer, chief of the South coaching staff, was busy Tuesday stressing fundamentals and plotting out ways to stop the South backfield speed which Bauer hopes will overcome a North weight advantage.

Redding, a Split-T coach, was well pleased with his fullback candidates — Dick Davis of Omaha North and Gernon Longo of Creighton Prep who will fill a vital post in the Redding offense.

SMITH LEADS MEN'S GOLF

First Round 70 Takes City Field By Surprise

. . . TABER, BORNER CARD 71s

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ed Smith, a Lincoln business executive who has never won or even led a Lincoln City Men's Golf Tournament, took the first round lead Tuesday with a two-under-par 70 at the Lincoln Country Club.

Smith never took the cover off his driver as he toured the tight LCC layout, using a 3-wood off the tee on all except the par-3 holes and No. 1 where he used a 3-iron and No. 2 where he used a 4-iron off the tee.

Smith, playing in a threesome with defending champion Matt Taber and former champion Charlie Borner, had to have the two-under-par round even to win honors in his threesome as both Taber and Borner tied for second with 71s.

No one else in the field of 209 bettered or matched par as golfers played over both the Lincoln Country Club and Hillcrest courses.

And Smith needed an eagle to take the one-stroke margin over Borner and Taber as the low-handicap golfers move to Pioneers for today's second round.

Smith, who won the Hillcrest Country Club championship last week with a 7 and 6 victory over Gene Chadwell in their 36-hole finals match, used a 3-wood off the tee on the 13th hole and a 3-wood second shot to put the ball four feet from the pin on the 548-yard, par-5 hole.

The four-foot putt gave him the eagle-3 and put him three-under par at that point. A bogey-5 at the 16th put him back to two-under where he finished.

The Hillcrest golfer played the first seven holes in par, then slipped in an eight-foot putt for a birdie on the 524-yard, par-5 eighth to make the turn in 35.

He went two-under-par with a four-foot birdie putt at the par-5, 570-yard 11th after hitting his drive into the adjoining 17th fairway.

A bogey at the par-3, 240-yard 12th put him back to one-under, but then came the eagle at the 13th.

Taber and Borner both started out better than Smith with Taber barely missing birdie putts on three of the first four holes and Borner going one-under with a six-foot putt for a birdie on the second hole.

After parring the first four holes, Taber birdied the fifth and sixth holes with birdie putts of 12 and three feet, respectively.

But when the runner-up in the state tournament hit one out of bounds on No. 9, the double-bogey put him even with 36 at the turn.

Borner also made the turn in 36, coming back with a birdie on the ninth after going one-over-par when he hit traps on the fourth and seventh holes.

A 15-foot birdie putt on the 11th and a two-footer for a birdie at No. 13 put him two-under before he pulled a tee shot into the trees on No. 16 and had to chip back into the fairway.

He had a chance to tie Smith on No. 17, but a four-foot putt for the birdie just missed.

After hitting the ball out of bounds on the ninth for a double-bogey-6 and a bogey-6 on No. 11, Taber, bidding for a second straight title, regrouped and finished with birdies on Nos. 13-14-17.

He hit a driver and a 3-iron to the green on the 548-yard. par-5 13th and sank birdie putts of eight feet on both the 14th and 17th.

The closest challengers to the three leaders is Ronnie Richards, son of Hillcrest pro Bunnie Richards. Ronnie shot 36-37 over the 6.709-yard, par 36-36 LCC course.

WHERE'D IT GO? . . . Ed Smith, left, cranes his neck as his ball hooks around the trees away from the 17th green at LCC. Smith's caddie Kirk Potter seems to have a better angle to watch from.

—NO 67s THIS YEAR—

Smith Nearly Led One Other Time

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Ed Smith was the last of the three low finishers to leave the Lincoln Country Club course after Tuesday's opening round in the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament.

And you couldn't blame him for checking the scoreboard frequently to see if his two-under-par 70 was going to stand up as the first-round leader.

Smith was asked during a question and answer session following his round if he had ever led a city tournament before.

"No," was the reply from the regular on the Nebraska tournament trail who has been playing in the city tournament since 1952. "But, I thought I was one year until Roy Wythers came in after me with a 67."

There were no 67s Tuesday as Smith played the LCC course in a similar style to Wythers who won the tournament after opening with a 67 in 1958.

Wythers played the entire tournament that year, never using more than a 1-iron off the tee at the Lincoln Country Club. Smith never used more than a 3-wood off the LCC tees Tuesday.

"That's how I generally play this course," Smith explained, referring to the 3-wood strategy, "but never this successfully."

And if you could use "gimme" putts in stroke-play competition. Smith admitted he might not have been the sole leader in Tuesday's opening round.

He referred to the four-foot birdie putt that Charlie Borner missed on the 17th that would have tied Borner with Smith.

"Charlie had been putting so well, knocking them in from all over, that when I saw that four-footer, I thought it was a gimme," Smith recalled.

"That one really hurt," Borner observed, speaking of the miss from four feet. "I was only hitting the ball fair today and put the emphasis on only fair."

Taber admitted that he had a brief letdown after hitting his tee ball out of bounds on the ninth hole

"I thought I had things going real good as I went to that hole," he explained. "I had just missed several birdie putts on the first few holes and had birdies on Nos. 5 and 6.

"And No. 9 is a birdie hole. I wanted to be sure to keep the ball a little to the right where you can just hit a wedge to the green. I sure didn't want to be to the left.

"That's what made me sick about the shot, because I had thought so much about keeping it to the right and when I hit it out of bounds to the left, I just felt sick."

Despite the two-stroke penalty, Taber still nearly saved the hole with only a bogey. But his five-footer rimmed the cup and stayed out.

Smith's card:

Smith out	444 434 444—35

South Coaches Impressed By Five Players

Crete (AP)— Two backs and three linemen impressed the South Shrine Bowl football squad coaches in Tuesday's workouts at the Doane College camp. The backs were Larry Frost of Malcolm and Bob Best of McCook and the linemen were Ken Gilchrist, Boys Town center, tackle Joe Armstrong, Beatrice, and end Gary Thompson of Lincoln Northeast.

In punting drills the kicking was handled by Armstrong, Frank Brill, Lincoln High and Ron Muff, Crete. Blocking and tackling got the morning attention with ball handling, play patterns and kicking stressed in the afternoon.

Head coach Art Bauer of Lincoln Northeast said he planned to use separate offense and defense units.

Hernandez Gets Year Suspension

Hernandez rammed his car into a wall Saturday night. Both he and his girl companion escaped injury. The champion admitted the accident but said he was not drunk and would appeal the suspension.

The commission said its rules demanded that boxers must lead an exemplary private, as well as public, life.

Erratic Day At Columbus

By BARRY BU[illegible]HART
Star Sports Writer

Columbus — Times were slow and horses erratic on the opening day of the 21-day racing meet at Agricultural Park here Tuesday.

One of this year's innovations at Agricultural Park has been extensive resurfacing of the track. Although the first turn has been reshaped and elevation added to the outside. the new surface on the rest of the track was not yet packed and tended to cut times down by three or four seconds.

The racing, however, was just as exciting as favorites and longshots split the wins evenly on the eight-race card.

Crown Chief (No. 4), a 7-1 shot in the first race, and Kin Fly (No. 1), an 11-1 shot in the second, combined wins to return a daily double of $274 80.

Barton H. Ford's Crown Chief saved ground until the stretch when he came from the pack and won driving. Wise Page, the 6-5 favorite of the crowd, followed Crown Chief from the pack but could not catch him, losing by a neck.

Kin Fly, ridden by apprentice Fred Acridge, went to the outside in the final turn and put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to edge heavily favored Tennessee Col. by ½-length

The winner at 11-1 odds returned $26.20, $12.20 and $5.60; Tennessee Col. paid $3.00 and $2.80, with Mr. Buckup $3.20 to show.

The $1,500 Elks Country Club Inaugural Handicap was won by 7-5 favorite Load And Leave

The winner sprinted to the lead from the gate, increased her lead in the backstretch and coasted home for a three-length victory over place horse Annie Ghan

Provo-Rae came from the pack in the final turn and drove to the wire to post the highest pay off of the day. The 22-1 shot returned $47.20, $21.40 and $6.40 for the win.

The track attendance of 3,075 was up 179 over a year ago on the opening day of the meeting. Mutuel Handle however. was down $6,326 at $113,274.

Twins Dump NY; Sandy Wins No. 20

. . . SF WINS 7TH STRAIGHT

By Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins continued their march to the American League pennant Tuesday night. They whipped the New York Yankees, the fading defending champs, 7-3 for their sixth straight triumph.

San Francisco made it seven in a row in the National League and stayed hot on the heels of the first place Los Angeles Dodgers by edging Pittsburgh 4-3.

Minnesota exploded for five runs in the eighth inning after a throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen enabled Zoilo Versalles to score and break a 2-2 tie.

Len Gabrielson's two-run single in the eighth provided the winning margin for Juan Marichal and the Giants against the Pirates. Marichal pitched a four-hitter as he chalked up his 18th victory.

Both Baltimore and Cleveland lost ground to Minnesota. The Orioles split a twi-night doubleheader with Boston. The Red Sox took the opener 15-5 with a 12-run fifth inning. The Orioles romped in the second game 12-4 as Bob Johnson rapped four hits scored four runs and drove in three others.

Cleveland went down before the Los Angeles Angels 5-2 as big Joe Adcock drove in three runs with a single and a two-run homer. Dave Wickersham turned in a four-hitter in pitching Detroit to a 2-0 victory over Kansas City. Tommy John also came up with a four-hitter in hurling the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Washington in the other AL game.

Cincinnati beat the Chicago Cubs 6-2 for Sammey Ellis' 15th victory. Milwaukee downed St. Louis 5-3 on Eddie Mathews' two-run homer that broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning. Philadelphia took Houston 2-0 as Jim Bunning turned in a five-hitter for his second straight shutout.

Sandy Koufax survived a late rally by the New York Mets and won his 20th game against four defeats as the Dodgers chalked up a 4-3 triumph. Koufax struck out 14 in extending the Mets' losing streak to nine.

Rich Schwabauer's pitching and two for three hitting performance along with Greg Kemist's three-run homer in the third inning boosted Russell's to the Elks League championship as they whipped Gerry's, 8-1 Tuesday night.

Schwabauer struck out 10 en route to the win and Bernie Rempe came through with a three for three performance at the plate. Alex Walters hit a single-run homer for Russell's in the fifth. Russell's won the first game in the two-out-of-three playoff Monday night.

Boxing Bill Advances

Washington (AP) — A House committee approved a bill Tuesday to create a federal boxing commission with broad authority to police matches broadcast by radio and television.

The commission could bar coverage of fights that violate its orders or appear to be affected by collusion, racketeering, bribery and the like.

The broad legislation was introduced in Congress following the Controversial one-round, heavyweight championship title fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston in Lewiston, Maine, last May.

Clay retained his title, but the knockout punch evoked a loud outcry among those who saw the fight, in person or via closed circuit television.

Under the bill approved by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, the President would appoint the three-man commission. It would have authority to license-or refuse to license—practically anyone involved in a fight, including the boxers themselves, promoters, managers, referees.

The commission's authority would extend to:

1. Use of television, radio and other state and foreign communications facilities.
2. Those professional boxing contests which are covered by means of such facilities.

In a statement, the committee said:

It is the purpose of the legislation to establish a federal boxing commission with adequate authority to exercise continuing surveillance over professional boxing matches which are broadcast by television or radio, or which are disseminated by wire in interstate commerce either to be received on home receivers or in theaters, areas or other places of assembly."

The commission would have authority to be able to ascertain that no contracts or agreements for a fight shall be "contrary to the best interests" of boxing or the public.

Before the bill becomes law, it must be passed by the full House, approved by the Senate and signed by the President.

Twins Dump NY; Sandy Wins No. 20

. . . SF WINS 7TH STRAIGHT

By Associated Press

The Minnesota Twins continued their march to the American League pennant Tuesday night. They whipped the New York Yankees, the fading defending champs, 7-3 for their sixth straight triumph.

San Francisco made it seven in a row in the National League and stayed hot on the heels of the first place Los Angeles Dodgers by edging Pittsburgh 4-3.

Minnesota exploded for five runs in the eighth inning after a throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen enabled Zoilo Versalles to score and break a 2-2 tie.

Len Gabrielson's two-run single in the eighth provided the winning margin for Juan Marichal and the Giants against the Pirates. Marichal pitched a four-hitter as he chalked up his 18th victory.

Both Baltimore and Cleveland lost ground to Minnesota. The Orioles split a twi-night doubleheader with Boston. The Red Sox took the opener 15-5 with a 12-run fifth inning. The Orioles romped in the second game 12-4 as Bob Johnson rapped four hits scored four runs and drove in three others.

Cleveland went down before the Los Angeles Angels 5-2 as big Joe Adcock drove in three runs with a single and a two-run homer. Dave Wickersham turned in a four-hitter in pitching Detroit to a 2-0 victory over Kansas City. Tommy John also came up with a four-hitter in hurling the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Washington in the other AL game.

Cincinnati beat the Chicago Cubs 6-2 for Sammey Ellis' 15th victory. Milwaukee downed St. Louis 5-3 on Eddie Mathews' two-run homer that broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning. Philadelphia took Houston 2-0 as Jim Bunning turned in a five-hitter for his second straight shutout.

Sandy Koufax survived a late rally by the New York Mets and won his 20th game against four defeats as the Dodgers chalked up a 4-3 triumph. Koufax struck out 14 in extending the Mets' losing streak to nine.

Boston Patriots Cut 3 From Team

Boston (AP) — Three rookies were dropped from the Boston Patriots squad Tuesday as Coach Mike Holovak cut the roster of the American Football League club to 47.

The squad must be down to 36 by Sept. 7.

Russell's Tops Gerry's For Elks Championship

Rich Schwabauer's pitching and two for three hitting performance along with Greg Kemist's three-run homer in the third inning boosted Russell's to the Elks League championship as they whipped Gerry's, 8-1 Tuesday night.

Schwabauer struck out 10 en route to the win and Bernie Rempe came through with a three for three performance at the plate. Alex Walters hit a single-run homer for Russell's in the fifth. Russell's won the first game in the two-out-of-three playoff Monday night.

Boxing Bill Advances

Washington (AP) — A House committee approved a bill Tuesday to create a federal boxing commission with broad authority to police matches broadcast by radio and television.

The commission could bar coverage of fights that violate its orders or appear to be affected by collusion, racketeering, bribery and the like.

The broad legislation was introduced in Congress following the Controversial one-round, heavyweight championship title fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston in Lewiston, Maine, last May.

Clay retained his title, but the knockout punch evoked a loud outcry among those who saw the fight, in person or via closed circuit television.

Under the bill approved by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, the President would appoint the three-man commission. It would have authority to license-or refuse to license—practically anyone involved in a fight, including the boxers themselves, promoters, managers, referees.

The commission's authority would extend to:

1. Use of television, radio and other state and foreign communications facilities.

2. Those professional boxing contests which are covered by means of such facilities.

In a statement, the committee said:

It is the purpose of the legislation to establish a federal boxing commission with adequate authority to exercise continuing surveillance over professional boxing matches which are broadcast by television or radio, or which are disseminated by wire in interstate commerce either to be received on home receivers or in theaters, areas or other places of assembly."

The commission would have authority to be able to ascertain that no contracts or agreements for a fight shall be "contrary to the best interests" of boxing or the public.

Before the bill becomes law, it must be passed by the full House, approved by the Senate and signed by the President.

Had .500 Record

Pitching Coach Cal McLish of the Philadelphia Phillies had a 92-92 major league pitching record.

Stock Mart Averages Dip Small

The averages fell slightly but advances outnumbered declines by a good margin.

About the only stimulating development was a British trade report of record exports and a sharp drop in the balance-of-payment deficit in July.

The Commerce Department reported that retail sales rose 2⅞ to a record in July, but this had no effect on mail order-retail issues.

The Associated Press 60-stock averages slipped .1 to 327.8 with industrials up .3, rails off .4 and utilities unchanged. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dipped 0.88 to 878.89.

Of 1,359 issues traded, 567 rose and 473 fell. There were 34 new 1965 highs and 17 new lows.

Volume climbed to 4.7 million shares from 4.51 million Monday.

Douglas and General Dynamics continued their advance but United Aircraft eased. Douglas rose 1¼ to 48⅜ on news that it will get a big order for planes from Northeast Airlines. General Dynamics added ⅝ at 42⅜.

Raytheon was a standout among the electronics, tacking on 1½ at 26. Zenith added ½ at 82⅜ and Sperry Rand was up ⅝ at 12⅝.

American Airlines, ex dividend, advanced ½ to 51¼ and United Air Lines, also ex dividend, rose ⅜ to 72¼. Eastern Air Lines added ¾ to 60 and Pan American World Airways was up ¾ to 27¼.

Among the golds, American South African slumped 2⅝ to 69⅝, Homestake lost 1⅜ to 50½ and Dome Mines dropped 1⅛ to 40⅝.

Steels were steady with U.S. Steel adding ¼ to 47⅞, Bethlehem picking up ⅛ at 35 and Republic gaining ⅛ at 40¾.

Motors were mostly lower. Ford lost ½ at 52⅛, and Chrysler was down ⅜ at 43½. General Motors added ¼ at 97½.

Du Pont advanced ¾ to 235¼. American Cyanamid lost ½ to 76⅛ and Eastman Kodak dropped ½ to 88.

Rails were mostly lower with Pennsylvania losing ⅜ to 41⅝ and New York Central dropping ¼ to 51⅞.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed and Treasuries advanced.

Grain Market Is Steady To Weak

Chicago (AP)—Prices showed a little rallying tendencies in late grain futures trading Tuesday but fell short of a general recovery and the market closed mostly steady to weak.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel higher, September $1.51¾-⅝; corn ⅛-⅜ lower, September $1.21¼-⅛; oats ⅜ to 1 cent lower, September 67½-⅜ cents; rye ⅜-1⅛ lower, September $1.19¼; soybeans 4⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, August $2.70¾-71.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Financial Plans Should Be Based On Common Sense

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Money is a tool and should not be the master.

Financial planning should be based on common sense, and on a reasonable effort to set up reserves for the contingencies of the future.

Rukeyser

"I am in need of impartial investment advice an am unable to obtain it.

"With $100,000 cash available and the need for a housing unit costing $40,000 would it be better:

"1. To pay cash for the house and invest the remainder, or

"2. Invest the entire amount and finance the house through the usual mortgage procedure."

In principle, this can be readily solved. But it is important for the reader to be sure that he has made a wise selection of the housing unit. Then, if he makes a down payment of not more than 20% and finances the rest by a mortgage to be retired regularly, and invests the balance of his cash in securities, he must be careful to buy prudently.

The reader does not state whether he has other resources. If not, he would be foolish to tie up 40% of his funds in a housing unit. This does not provide adequate diversification or liquidity. By liquidity is meant the ability to turn investments quickly into cash. This can be achieved through marketable stocks and bonds.

Q. A reader in Pompano Beach with a coronary asks which "No Load" mutual fund I would suggest for my family.

A. Fortunately, the breadwinner in my family has not suffered a coronary and, therefore, the inquiry is not pertinent. A list of no load funds will be mailed. The past performance of each can be gleaned from standard manuals, such as Wisenberger's "Investment Companies," on file in libraries of banks and investment firms. It is not unreasonable to assume that investment managers who have done well in the past will continue to function in an informed manner, but there are possibilities of changes in management through death and retirement. I know of no riskless investment.

Q. A captain, now with the U.S. Army in Europe, plans to return to civilian life in Connecticut or New York City next January. With his medical training, he expects to start at a hospital with a salary of $13,000 which will increase yearly by $1,000 until it reaches $20,000. He has a wife and two children and the couple hopes to have another in two years. He is in good health, but suffers from obesity through self confessed overeating. He would like to own his own home but has no cash for a down payment. He asks for guidelines as to how to expend his income.

A. This column does not undertake to give legal or medical advice. As for the obesity, it doesn't take a degree to suggest that the reader eat less. The question of whether to buy a home or rent one is answered automatically by the fact that he doesn't have cash for a down payment. Until the doctor gets adjusted in a new community, it would make sense anyway to rent for a while. He wants to use insurance for protection only. This is okay if he can discipline himself to put aside out of income regularly funds for his own capital account. As to percentages for allocating income, this varies according to size of family and housing conditions in communities. I recommend keeping fixed charges such as rent as low as is consistent with family desires.

Q. A reader in upstate New York writes: "I have read your articles in the AMA News with a great deal of interest. I admire your perspicuity of thought. Now I seek your sagacious advice. Should I buy stocks?"

A. Yes, provided you have taken care of prior needs, such as life insurance and major medical and liquid savings available. The real issue is which stocks and when. At present, stocks, despite the correction since mid-May, have had a prolonged rise, and this calls for great discrimination. If you intend to buy stocks regularly and put the same amount in the same securities periodically, you get the advantage of "dollar averaging" and don't have to guess short term fluctuations. I think you should confine yourself either to investment company shares, common trust funds, or prime stocks.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

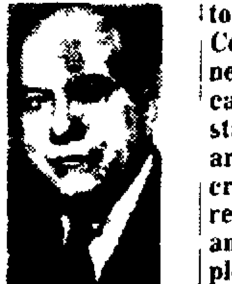
EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Financial Plans Should Be Based On Common Sense

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



Rukeyser

Money is a tool and should not be the master

Financial planning should be based on common sense, and on a reasonable effort to set up reserves for the contingencies of the future

Thus, a reader — a professional man in upstate New York—writes for advice "I am in need of impartial investment advice an am unable to obtain it

"With $100,000 cash available and the need for a housing unit costing $40,000 would it be better·

"1. To pay cash for the house and invest the remainder, or

"2. Invest the entire amount and finance the house through the usual mortgage procedure."

In principle, this can be readily solved But it is important for the reader to be sure that he has made a wise selection of the housing unit. Then if he makes a down payment of not more than 20% and finances the rest by a mortgage to be retired regularly and invests the balance of his cash in securities he must be careful to buy prudently

The reader does not state whether he has other resources If not he would be foolish to tie up 40% of his funds in a housing unit This does not provide adequate diversification or liquidity By liquidity is meant the ability to turn investments quickly into cash This can be achieved through marketable stocks and bonds

Q A reader in Pompano Beach with a coronary asks which "No Load" mutual fund I would suggest for my family

A Fortunately the breadwinner in my family has not suffered a coronary and, therefore the inquiry is not pertinent A list of no load funds will be mailed The past performance of each can be gleaned from standard manuals such as Wisenberger's Investment Companies" on file in libraries of banks and investment firms It is not unreasonable to assume that investment managers who have done well in the past will continue to function in an informed manner, but there are possibilities of changes in management through death and retirement. I know of no riskless investment

Q. A captain, now with the U.S. Army in Europe, plans to return to civilian life in Connecticut or New York City next January. With his medical training, he expects to start at a hospital with a salary of $13,000 which will increase yearly by $1,000 until it reaches $20,000. He has a wife and two children and the couple hopes to have another in two years. He is in good health, but suffers from obesity through self confessed overeating. He would like to own his own home but has no cash for a down payment. He asks for guidelines as to how to expend his income.

A. This column does not undertake to give legal or medical advice As for the obesity, it doesn't take a degree to suggest that the reader eat less The question of whether to buy a home or rent one is answered automatically by the fact that he doesn't have cash for a down payment. Until the doctor gets adjusted in a new community, it would make sense anyway to rent for a while. He wants to use insurance for protection only. This is okay if he can discipline himself to put aside out of income regularly funds for his own capital account. As to percentages for allocating income, this varies according to size of family and housing conditions in communities. I recommend keeping fixed charges such as rent as low as is consistent with family desires

Q. A reader in upstate New York writes: "I have read your articles in the AMA News with a great deal of interest. I admire your perspicuity of thought. Now I seek your sagacious advice. Should I buy stocks?"

A Yes, provided you have taken care of prior needs, such as life insurance and major medical and liquid savings available The real issue is which stocks and when At present. stocks, despite the correction since mid-May, have had a prolonged rise, and this calls for great discrimination If you intend to buy stocks regularly and put the same amount in the same securities periodically, you get the advantage of "dollar averaging" and don't have to guess short term fluctuations. I think you should confine yourself either to investment company shares, common trust funds, or prime stocks.

(Mr Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems Letters with self addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column)

Knot Blamed In Blaze At Strauss Co.

A knot of wood apparently heated beyond the point of combustion and sucked into a sawdust collector bin was tentatively blamed Tuesday for starting the blaze at Strauss Bros. Lumber Co., 3815 Touzalin, according to Chief Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre.

Fire broke out in the bin just west of the main building at 8:17 p.m. Monday. Sawdust is sucked out of the main building into the bin by a 14-inch tube.

McIntyre retrieved the charred knot of wood during an inspection Tuesday. He figures the knot became heated while workmen were trimming lumber, was sucked into the duct and loged in the collector.

A serious blaze was averted due to the tight construction of the collector which prevented too much oxygen from getting in, he added. The bin was covered with asbestos siding.

Knot Blamed In Blaze At Strauss Co.

A knot of wood apparently heated beyond the point of combustion and sucked into a sawdust collector bin was tentatively blamed Tuesday for starting the blaze at Strauss Bros. Lumber Co., 3815 Touzalin, according to Chief Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre.

Fire broke out in the bin just west of the main building at 8:17 p.m. Monday. Sawdust is sucked out of the main building into the bin by a 14-inch tube.

McIntyre retrieved the charred knot of wood during an inspection Tuesday. He figures the knot became heated while workmen were trimming lumber, was sucked into the duct and loged in the collector.

A serious blaze was averted due to the tight construction of the collector which prevented too much oxygen from getting in, he added. The bin was covered with asbestos siding.

A brilliant sunny day in the lush island of Kauai. The trade wind is rattling the palm fronds. The white surf piles up on the reef, exactly as advertised by Hawaii Visitors Bureau.

The air smells of white ginger and mango fruit — both now in season.

The nut-brown tourist lies slug-a-bed. And the nut-brown maiden? That chick is working like crazy! Making banana pancakes. Making beds. Auwe!

☆ ☆ ☆

When the sailors and whalers first came to these lovely islands, the nut-brown natives were a sight to behold.

They wore practically nothing—for there was nothing to wear.

They did practically nothing—for there was nothing to do.

The missionaries came in 1820 and hurriedly sacked up all this gorgeous scenery in sacky Mother Hubbards.

Now 610,000 tourist wahines a year come to the Paradise islands. Get into the Mother Hubbards to look like Hawaiians. (About $30 a Mother Hubbard on fashionable Waikiki.)

Then they get out of their Mother Hubbards. To lie on the sand and look like the original nut-brown maidens.

The first Polynesian canoemen landed here at Wailua. The kings of Kauai planted a royal coco palm garden here. And here they kept the royal fish ponds.

All of this exists today. And some years ago, a hotel man named "Gus" Guslander came along and put up Coco Palms.

So the other night, we all went over to see how it was in the good old days.

☆ ☆ ☆

Coco palms faces the fish ponds and the royal palm gardens. It is built so the breeze blows through it. The rooms are built with outside showers—(you have a little rock wall around you). And the beds are built into outrigger canoes—with a Simmons mattress.

Queen Deborah Kapule lived here—six feet and 300 pounds in her muumuu. But I doubt if she lived more splendidly.

Coco Palms is an overnight "must" stop on the round-the-islands itinerary. The tables were full of tourists, choked to the chins in leis. And the tourists were full of rummy mai tais.

☆ ☆ ☆

"And now the sacred conch shell blows," said the loudspeaker—but it said it softly. "The table is laden."

Somebody up in the palms blew a conch shell. Whooooo! Woooooo!

A nut-brown Hawaiian in a loin cloth came leaping through the trees. He swung a lighted torch in his hand. As he passed the torches set in the ground, he gave them a burst of the flame thrower.

The torches lighted up and reflected in the fish ponds. (And in the mai tais.)

The tourists cried "ooh" and "ahhhhh."

(The man next to me said: "Dammit, I didn't get him in focus in time. Do you think he'll do it again?")

All over, flash globes were popping off. The Hawaiian was running like an Olympic champ. And I wonder how many really got him.

☆ ☆ ☆

The torchlighting ceremony was the idea of Grace Buscher who opened Coco Palms with "Gus" Guslander. It was one of the most successful things in the islands and has been copied all over.

The next most successful feature is the outdoor rock shower by your room. The nut-brown Hawaiian Queens often went around bare as a peeled banana — being nut-brown all over by nature.

The tourist wahines, being only nut-brown within the limits of the bathing suit laws, get in the walled shower and—well, you know how it is.
